Tells of Teamster Plottings

WASHINGTON (UP) — A tiny brunette divorcee, her laughter tinkling as she told how her Teamster Union friends hurled stink bombs, said today she tape-recorded details of a dynamite plot against a non-union construction job in Scranton, Pa.

The witness, Mrs. Helen Canfield, 26, told the Senate Labor Rackets Committee that the tapes captured conversations of two men involved in the blast as they told how union officials ordered the job sabotaged.

The committee Tuesday had heard testimony about strong-arm violence against non-union workmen and employes in the Scranton area, rigged union elections, and sabotage up to and including dynamiting.

Challenge AFL-CIO

In advance of today's testimony, the committee challenged the AFL-CIO to make good on its pledge to clean out union officials convicted of wrong doing.

Mrs. Canfield, a delicately-built beauty with a high voice, said she cautiously made the tape recordings after her friend Paul Bradshaw, one-time minor official of the Teamster Union in Scranton, was selected to "take the rap" for the dynamiting.

Bradshaw, a stocky professional boxer, has testified that the president of the Scranton Building Trades Council, Joseph Bartell, ordered the house damaged but had warned against use of dynamite.

Mrs. Canfield recalled how Robert Hubshman, identified Tuesday as a teamster muscle man, told her of flinging a stink bomb through a window of the strike-bound Sonny Boy Pizza Bakery.

"I thought it was very amusing," she said "I've smelled rotten eggs, and that's just what it smelled like."

She laughed merrily as she quoted Hubshman as saying, "Wait 'til they try soap and water. That'll only make it worse. Wait 'til they turn on the oven!"

She said she decided to make the tape recordings after William Munley, accused by Bradshaw as the man who did the dynamiting, said there was a plan afoot to double-cross Bradshaw and let him "take the rap."

Kept Mike in Home

Mrs. Canfield said she concealed a microphone in her home and "I got Munley to talking. He told all about it . . . I also taped George Murphy." Murphy is another teamster identified by Bradshaw as a member of the dynamite gang.

Committee Chairman John L. McClellan read into the record an affidavit from Scranton Mayor James T. Hanlon denying Bradshaw's testimony Tuesday that the mayor asked him to "lay off" spilling the dynamite story until after a city election.

Hanlon's affidavit said Bradshaw, who was convicted in connection with the dynamiting, is under indictment on a charge of perjury.

Authorize Work To Start on Latrobe Airport

LATROBE, Pa. (UP)—The Tri-City Airport Authority has authorized start of work on an all-weather airport capable of handling commercial flights.

The authority directed Tuesday that bids be asked for the preparation of a 55-acre site and authorized Michael Baker Jr., Inc., Rochester, Pa., to begin preparation of plans for paving the main runway.

The airport, which is expected to be in operation by July 1, 1958, will be on the site of the old Latrobe Airport and will serve Greensburg and Jeannette as well as Latrobe.

The authority directed its solicitor to intervene before the Civil Aeronautics Board in an effort to obtain service by Allegheny Airlines. Three daily flights each way on an east-west route are sought.

Still Hope In Egypt, Ike Says

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower said today the United States could go to Jordan's assistance if it becomes a victim of aggression.

The President also told his news conference the United States may have to go before the United Nations Security Council to report on the stalled Suez Canal negotiations. But he added that this government has not given up hope that an agreement with Egypt can be reached.

Eisenhower said the United States has two ways of helping Jordan if it is attacked.

First, he said, a Big Three agreement of May, 1950, provides for action in event any Middle East nation is the victim of aggression and this could apply in an Israeli-Arab dispute.

Second, the Middle East doctrine resolution approved by Congress, he said, permits the United States to go to the aid of any nation attacked by Communist aggression.

Voiced no Concern

The United States, he said, would be guided by either of these two pronouncements. The President, however, did not voice any concern that aggression is imminent.

On Suez, the President said the United States has insisted in its negotiations with Egypt that the canal be operated in line with the six principles approved by the U.N. Security Council last October. These included provision for agreement on tolls, insulation of the canal's operation "from the politics of any country," and opening of the waterway to ships of all nations.

The President said some progress has been made; he has not given up hope of an agreement, but the United States might have to go back to the Security Council.

The American move, supported by Britain and France, probably will be made today. It would be initiated by an American request to Sir Pierson Dixon, Security Council president, for an early meeting of the council to consider the Suez Canal problem.

The State Department was reported ready to explain the purpose of the move soon after U.N. machinery is started.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles returns from a 10-day Lake Ontario vacation to direct strategy on the stalemated Suez talks.

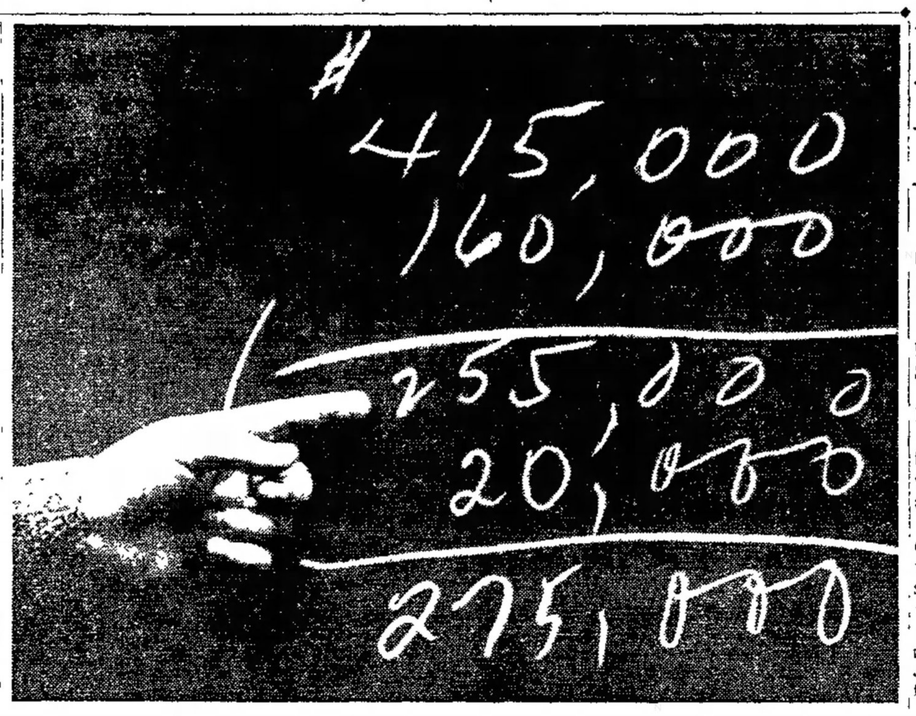
By taking the issue to the Security Council, the United States hopes to highlight the differences or stumbling blocks standing in the way of a satisfactory Suez agreement.

Masked Bandits Hold Up Service Station

Two bandits, their faces covered with towels, held up Al's Service Station on Route 51 in Perryopolis about 3:25 this morning and escaped with about $225 after forcing the attendant, Ronald Lynn, 19, to lie on the floor as they pocketed the cash.

State Police said the two men entered the station, pointed a gun at Lynn and then ransacked his pockets and the cash register.

Police said they fled on foot but probably had a car waiting near the vicinity.



SCHOOL DISTRICT NEEDS $275,000 — The finger points at the figures used at last night's School Board meeting to explain the financial muddle which will require the Monessen School District to borrow $275,000. The $415,000 figure is for estimated obligations. Subtract $160,000 for estimated revenue. This leaves $255,000. Tag on $20,000 which will be needed for repairs, and this gives you the needed $275,000 figure.

Ike Laughs Off Criticism Of Older Brother, Edgar

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower today turned aside criticism of his policies by his brother Edgar with this smiling comment:

"Edgar has been criticizing me since I was five years old."

That was all the President had to say on the subject of his brother.

The President, at his weekly news conference, seemed completely unperturbed by brother Edgar's criticism of the Chief Executive's record peace - time budget.

Edgar, a Tacoma, Wash., lawyer, voiced the criticism last night in interviews with newsmen.

The first question fired at President Eisenhower at today's news conference was how he felt about the public blast from his older brother.

Expected Question

The President apparently was expecting the question. A slow smile of apparent resignation played over his face. Standing with both hands in his pockets he turned toward the questioner and made the remark about Edgar having criticized him since he was a child.

The President's remark brought a roar of laughter from reporters. Eisenhower responded with a broad grin and a little chuckle of his own. No further questions were asked and the President made no further comment on the incident.

Edgar had attacked the $71,800,000,000 budget as "too big," and said he "can't understand" why the President approved it.

"His campaign promises and speeches were for decreased government spending," Edgar told newsmen Tuesday night. "I'd like to discover what influences are at work."

But Edgar denied one published report that he said his brother Milton, president of Johns Hopkins University, Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams and Paul G. Hoffman, former foreign aid chief and an original Eisenhower supporter, influenced the President toward more liberal spending.

Although the President dismissed Edgar's criticism with his brief news conference comment, the two could have a chance to discuss their differences on the budget and other government policies tonight when Edgar goes to the White House for a stag dinner.

Scottdale Sailor Hurt in Crash In Rhode Island

SCITUATE, R. I. (UP) — Two Navy brothers were in serious condition today with injuries suffered in a two-automobile collision in which five other persons were hurt less severely.

Richard Mitchell, 19, of Brandonville, W. Va., underwent surgery in Providence Tuesday night for a head injury suffered in the accident earlier. His brother Charles, 20, was treated for a compound shoulder fracture at Newport Naval Base Hospital.

Police said Richard Mitchell was driving a car in which his brother and four shipmates were riding when it collided with a car operated by Benjamin Burdick of Plainville, Conn.

Burdick was hospitalized in Providence but doctors described his condition as "good."

Released after treatment were John Mahokey, 19, of Scottdale, Pa.; John Sargeant, 22, of Byram, Conn.; James Fuller, 19, of Wyoming, Pa.; and George Estep of Chapmanville, W. Va.

Doria Victim Fayette Death

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (UP) —Mrs. Angelina Grego, 53, died in Uniontown Hospital Tuesday of injuries suffered in the Andrea Doria sea disaster.

At the time of her death she was the only person injured in the disaster still in a hospital. She became the 51st victim.

Mrs. Grego suffered a spinal injury when she was being lowered from the Italian liner into a lifeboat following the collision with the Swedish liner Stockholm off the Atlantic Coast last July 25.

She underwent treatment at several hospitals in the New York area and less than two weeks ago was returned here from a hospital at Newark, N. J.

Search for Child Ends Successfully

LEWISTOWN, Pa. (UP)—A four-hour search by firemen for four-year-old Samuel Lewis ended Tuesday night when the youngster was found asleep under the back porch of his home.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lewis, 217 Walnut St., notified authorities when they were unable to find their son in early evening. Neighbors reported he was last seen near the bank of ram-swollen Kishcoquillas Creek.

Search teams grappled for the boy's body in the creek as the parents found him sleeping under the porch.

Van Doren Weds His Secretary in Virgin Islands

ST. THOMAS, Virgin Islands (UP)—Charles L. Van Doren, who skyrocketed to fame by winning $129,000 on a television quiz program, married his attractive brunette secretary today in a surprise police court ceremony.

The 31-year-old Columbia University English instructor and Geraldine Ann Bernstein, also of New York, slipped away to this Caribbean resort apparently hoping to avoid the publicity that would have surrounded a wedding in the United States. The news came as a surprise to Van Doren's closest colleagues.

Van Doren hired Miss Bernstein last winter to help him answer his fan mail including many letters from women suggesting that they would make a good wife for the retiring young bachelor. Friends in New York said he had dated Miss Bernstein previously, and their close association during the hectic months of his appearances on NBC-TV's "Twenty-One" show resulted in their engagement.

Parente-Kotch Agency Official

Announcement was made today of the formation of the Parente-Kotch Insurance Agency in Monessen.

Kotch just recently obtained his insurance license from the state.

The partnership was official as of April 1.

Board Outlines Plans to Pay Off Local Debt

The Monessen School District will borrow $275,000 between now and the end of its fiscal year June 30, the School Board decided at a special meeting last night.

The directors voted unanimously to float an initial bond issue of $60,000 to meet current expenses.

Later they expect to sell $215,000 worth of bonds to pay off a "floating" short-term debt of $120,000, which has been carried for several years, and to pay an accumulation of back debts.

The decisions were reached after a two-hour private caucus in the office of Supt. Joseph Pallone during which the board was closeted with bankers, a representative of the Pennsylvania Economy League and an attorney from a firm of bond specialists.

As explained by Dr. Pallone at the request of Board President John Lancas, here is the district's financial picture.

— Estimated revenue from April 1 to June 30 — $159,000.

— Estimated obligations, including the "floating" debt — $415,000.

— Needed to end the current year without a deficit — $274,000.

Revenue Listed

Dr. Pallone listed the anticipated revenue for the balance of the year as: $3,000 cash on hand, $121,000 in state appropriations and $35,000 wage-income tax receipts.

He broke down the expenditure estimates as follows:

— Payroll for April, May and June — $200,000.

— Payments to retirement funds — $20,000.

— Bills payable — $40,000

— Loans due to Mellon National Bank — $155,000.

Neither Dr. Pallone nor any of the directors explained in detail the financial tangle with which the board has been wrestling in numerous private conferences for the past several weeks.

But it was apparent to observers that Dr. Pallone, who succeeded Dr. Michael Duda as superintendent last fall, has been insisting that the district discontinue short-term financing, fund its debts by selling bonds and start the 1957-58 school year even with the board.

'Clean Slate'

"This will give us a clean slate," he commented last night.

Dr. Duda was present both during the caucus and the public meeting but during the latter made only a brief reference to the short-term financing which had been carried on by his recommendation.

But a member of the board, Dr. Joseph M. Dudas, said Dr. Duda had "had the best interests of the taxpayers at heart".

"It would have cost the taxpayers over $52,000 over a 15-year period if we had used other methods," Dr. Dudas said. "The unexpected expenditures and the failure of the state to make provision for raises for teachers made it impossible to meet these payments."

Another director, Alexander Kachmarik, however, asserted that the short-term loans probably have been "illegal". He read a section of the school law which provides that such debt, when incurred to meet current expenses,

Open House at Dial Central Building Here

Residents of Monessen and vicinity will have an opportunity to inspect the modern Murray dial central office in full operation next week when the Bell Telephone Co. holds public open house in its building at Reed Ave. and 6th St., Monessen.

They will hear explanations of their various duties and the functions of the equipment, according to J. Lawrence Buchanan, local manager for the company.

A number of special exhibits will be demonstrated.

The Murray central office, which introduced direct distance dialing of calls and automatic message accounting in this area, was placed in service last October 21.

Teamsters Board Votes To Give Beck Support

GALVESTON, Tex. (UP)—Dave Beck and the 13-member executive board of his Teamsters Union decided Tuesday to ignore a chance to defend themselves before the AFL-CIO ethical practices committee.

The decision to back Beck and snub the hearing will not affect the ethical practices committee's investigation into charges of "corrupt influences" in the Teamsters Union, the nation's largest at 1,325,000 members.

Speculation was that the refusal to answer the summons to a May 6 hearing might prompt the AFL-CIO to boot the Teamsters out of its ranks if the committee finds anything amiss.

The decision of the executive board to give its present tactical support and ignore the hearing came during a meeting in the plush Galvez Hotel in Galveston Tuesday.

Beck, who used the Fifth Amendment 117 times before a Senate committee interested in what he did with $320,000 of Teamsters funds, was pleased with the decision.

"The actions are specific and clear and in harmony with what I think the board should do. It is a step toward a solution as we would like to have it determined."

The board said in a resolution the AFL-CIO executive council had no right to suspend Beck from its board and asked that Beck and George Meany, AFL-CIO president, appoint joint committees to discuss the suspension.

The ethical practices committee charged the union was "dominated by corrupt influences" and summoned the Teamsters board to a May 6 hearing.

Ike Defends Actions Of His Postal Chief

WASHINGTON (UP) —President Eisenhower today strongly defended Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield's action curtailing mail service last weekend.

Eisenhower said Summerfield had to do it because Congress had not provided the post office with enough money.

Eisenhower late Tuesday signed a bill giving the Post Office an additional 41 million dollars. Summerfield announced that most services would be restored as rapidly as possible.

The President was asked at his news conference today what he thought of the feeling in some sections of Congress that the weekend slow down of mail service was an effort by Summerfield to coerce Congress. Eisenhower disagreed and said Summerfield acted with his complete approval.

Other news highlights at Eisenhower's conference today with 227 reporters.

—He supported the general principle of the new O'Hara-Harris natural gas bill, saying he believed there had to be such legislation. He said reports he has been given on this particular bill indicated that it agreed in general with the criteria he announced when he vetoed a gas bill last year.

—The President said he was against billboards that mar the scenery along the highways of the nation but he did not know what the federal government could do about it.

—He came out again for restoration of House cuts in the appropriation for the United States Information Agency, saying that he thought cutting dollars uselessly in this instance would be the worst kind of economy.

He said the Labor Department is studying the current Senate investigation of racketeering in labor unions to determine whether there might be a need for federal legislation to protect union funds.

Some Postal Cuts Restored

WASHINGTON (UP)—Government cuts in postal service were partly revoked today. But the public won't see much effect until Saturday when mail will be delivered again and post offices will open as usual.

Post office windows were kept on their reduced 8½-hour daily schedule except that regional postal officials were given leeway to make some upward adjustments in hours if local need could be shown.

The reduction in business area deliveries from three to two a day also was kept in effect.

must be met during the current year's budget.

Dr. Duda answered this criticism by saying that the budget had provided $2,000 to pay the interest on the short-term loans.

"So it wasn't illegal," said the former superintendent, now president of California State Teachers College.

The only formal action taken by the board in the brief public session was to adopt a resolution authorizing the $60,000 bond issue.

Approval of Court

This will require approval of the Westmoreland County court because the money is to be used to pay current bills.

The vote was 6 to 0 with Director Perry Cozza the only absentee. He is a hospital patient.

The meeting attracted about 25 spectators, who were given an opportunity by President Lancas to ask questions or make comments.

Murino DeAngelis, an elementary school principal, asked if the payments on the short-terms loans "were or were not anticipated in previous budgets".

Dr. Pallone replied that they were. But he said that state subsidy payments were $20,000 short of estimates and that the legislature had mandated teacher salary increases, which are costing Monessen an additional $28,000, without increasing subsidies to cover them.

Mrs. Charles H. Williams, Jr., a spectator, raised a point about substitute teachers who serve without contracts although they teach regularly.

Dr. Pallone said the board expects soon to offer permanent contracts to such teachers.

The superintendent pointed out that the district had paid $41,000 for a new lighting system at the Stadium although this is intended to be paid for by the Athletic Association out of box office receipts. He said the district so far has received only $8,000 from athletic funds towards the lighting project.

Another unbudgeted item of $10,000 went for new lighting facilities in two elementary schools, according to Dr. Pallone.

The board voted to rescind a motion adopted at its previous meeting approving a short-term loan of $40,000 from the Monessen office of Mellon National Bank.

John Abernethy, manager of the Mellon office, told reporters after the meeting that the bank was unable to grant the loan because the district's revenues for the remainder of this year were not sufficient to cover it. This would have made such a loan illegal, Abernethy said.

John Perry, Pittsburgh attorney representing a bonding firm, said the district could expect to sell its bonds in June provided the court acts promptly.

Also present was Russell Jones, secretary of the Westmoreland County branch of the Economy League. Jones did not participate in the public discussion.

Lancas adjourned the meeting subject to the call of the chair. It is expected that another special meeting will be arranged, presumably to act on another bond issue.

No mention was made of a possible increase in real estate taxes nor of next year's budget, which should be introduced shortly. A tax increase of as much as two or three mills is reported to be under discussion by the directors.

Among the spectators last night were several candidates for Democratic nominations for school director, but none of them spoke.

Two seats become vacant this year. They are held by Dr. Dudas, who is seeking reelection, and Romeo Furio, who is not a candidate

Israel Accuses Egypt of Starting Surprise Raids

By UNITED PRESS

Israeli security forces accused Egypt today of instigating new Arab commando attacks from Jordan, Syria and the Lebanon to complicate the situation in Jordan where King Hussein has won a precarious political victory.

Dispatches from Israel, Jordan and Egypt emphasized that Jordan's political troubles were far from over. A Jordan source said in Cairo the new cabinet would be short-lived; the same prediction came from Amman. Israeli officials said Jordan's pro-Western and pro-Communist elements could not work together.

New troubles also were blowing up over the Suez Canal. Al Gomhouria, the official Egyptian government newspaper, flatly rejected the six principles suggested by the U.N. Security Council for running the canal. They involved some form of international cooperation and the divorcing of the canal from domestic politics.

The United States, supported by Britain and France, was expected to take the Suez Canal issue back to the Security Council. Washington dispatches said the United States will request an early meeting—and may make the request today.

In Damascus President Shukri El Kuwatly denounced American policy and said Syria leans toward Russia because the Soviets did not ask for political or military concessions.

An Israeli military spokesman reported a new series of Fedayeen —suicide commando—attacks in Israel from the Dead Sea along the Jordan border to the Syrian and Lebanese frontiers during the past 24 hours.

A high-ranking official said all efforts were being made to bring border conditions back to normal so as not to dissuade tourists from visiting the Holy Land during Easter Week. The tourists would provide a welcome financial boost for hard-pressed Jordan.

shaw's sister, told the committee her husband has been unable to get work as a truck driver since Bradshaw turned the tape recordings over to newspapers in 1955.

Mrs. Kollra said John Durkin, secretary-treasurer of Teamster Local 229 and vice president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, told her, "Paul (Bradshaw) shouldn't have talked. He should have waited, because three unions were getting togther $10,000 to give to Paul."

She said teamster steward Robert Sullivan told her husband he could not get a job and should admit he was "through," though he had nothing to do with the case except for being Bradshaw's brother-in-law.

Also on the witness list for the Scranton hearings are four union officials convicted in the 1954 dynamiting. McClellan said he expects some of them to claim the Fifth Amendment's protection against self-incrimination, and refuse to answer questions.

For Legislative Recess Instead of Adjournment

Wants to Halt Any Move for Special Session

HARRISBURG (UP)—A State Senate Republican Leader has suggested that the GOP-controlled General Assembly give up plans to adjourn next month to forestall any possible move by Gov. George M. Leader to convene the lawmakers in special session in 1958.

Senate Majority Whip Albert R. Pechan (Armstrong) said the Legislature, now driving for adjournment by May 31, should stand-by on a recess basis instead.

There has been speculation on Capitol Hill recently that the governor, a potential candidate for the U.S. Senate next year, may convene a special session if he does not get the bulk of his legislative program through the current, regular Assembly.

"I personally believe the Legislature should not adjourn sine die when our work is completed by the end of next month," Pechan said in a statement. "Instead, it is my personal opinion, we should simply recess."

Pechan pointed out that during the interim, "should it become necessary for one reason or another," the Legislature could be reconvened by the speaker of the House and the Senate president pro tempore. Both legislative leaders are Republicans.

Cites Costs

"This would make us available at all times and without further costs to the taxpayer," Pechan said. "If we were to adjourn sine die and the governor recalled us, unquestionably to further his own personal political ambition to run for the U.S. Senate, taxpayers would be loaded with the cost of several hundreds of thousands of dollars.

"I have no doubt the governor would prefer to call us back just before next year's elections to use us for more grand-standing and as a rostrum to sound off for political reasons and not good government reasons."

A recess such as Pechan proposed would also enable Republicans to block top-level gubernatorial appointments, which require Senate confirmation while the Assembly is in session even on a recess basis.

Pechan recently rejected an invitation by the governor to join other legislative leaders in an Executive Mansion conference April 24 to discuss administration legislation the chief executive wants passed at this session.

Passenger Trains May Be Memory Before Long

WASHINGTON (UP) — Passenger trains may be only a memory soon unless something is one to keep them running, a Michigan state official told Congress Tuesday.

Maurice E. Hunt, Lansing, a member of the Michigan Public Service Commission, testified before the Senate surface transportation subcommittee.

He said he had "no pat answers," but it might become necessary to give subsidies to railroads to make sure passenger trains will be continued. Hunt said he was not in favor of taking federal subsidies away from other forms of transportation, because it might break them at the expense of helping the railroads.

Hunt said the trend of passenger train service in Michigan led him to predict that there would be no service for the northern two-thirds of the state and only a "handful" of trains left in the rest of the state within three years.

"I am here as a man with a problem," Hunt said. "When I leave here, I must go back to Lansing to hear a petition to discontinue the last passenger train serving the western side of Michigan."

Young Science Whiz Winnings at $192,000

NEW YORK (UP) — Robert Strom, 10-year-old science whiz, set another all-time TV quiz show record Tuesday night when he ran his winnings to $192,000.

The fifth grade student breezed through a three-part series of questions on various aspects of science on the CBS-TV show "The $64,000 Question." He gets a chance next week to pursue his chase of more than a quarter of a million dollars.

"It's up to the boss whether I can go on," said Rob with some detachment after the show. "Who's the boss? The boss is Mom."

The boss, Mrs. Beatrice Strom of the Bronx, N.Y., shrugged. "Rob is bearing up fine. Me . . . well, the show isn't so bad. It's what goes on in between shows. Reporters at the door, reporters at the phone.

"Why, the girls are even mailing in cheesecake shots to Rob from all over the country!"

Young Strom, natty in a striped jacket, waltzed through a three-part question on his 10th appearance on the giveaway. It marked the third time he has reached the $64,000 level. Next week, if he chooses, he can gun for another $32,000. If he makes that, he can try for his fourt and final $64,000 on April 30. That would give him $256,000 in all.

Whatever happens, Rob is assured of the $192,000 he has won thus far—or what will be left after it's spread over a three-year period. That three-year spread would leave him with some $83,000 after taxes.

Labor Secretary Supports Moves To Cut Accidents

HARRISBURG (UP)—William L. Batt, Jr., state labor and industry secretary, has urged Pennsylvania's congressional delegation to support proposals in Congress which would help reduce the number of industrial accidents.

Batt said he wrote to U.S. Sens. Joseph S. Clark Jr. and Edward Martin and the 30-member Pennsylvania House delegation asking them to back the proposed Industrial Safety Act. Batt said the federal legislation would not "curtail or infringe on state's rights, but would rather assist financially and technically our present industrial safety measures."

"Pennsylvania is now sponsoring a plan known as the foundry inplant safety training program, which we believe is the proper approach to an intelligent effort to effect safety through consultative methods," Batt wrote. "The bills would permit us to extend this type of program to all industries."

Batt pointed out that 744 persons were killed in the state last year in industrial accidents and 723 in 1955. He said identical legislation was sponsored in each chamber but both were still in committee.

Competition Is Forcing Steel To Court Users

NEW YORK (UP—Competition is forcing steel mills to "beat the bushes' for business, courting users in areas well beyond normal market zones. Iron Age said today.

"What this means," said the authoritative trade magazine, "Is that the mills are now willing to settle for a lesser profit margin to maintain volume production." To compete in distant market areas mills must absorb freight charges.

The magazine said aggressive selling is the watchword, with more salesmen—even sales managers and their assistants—out on the road.

In addition to growing competition mills—chiefly producers of sheet, strip, bar and wire products—are running into serious scheduling problems because users are holding back on orders until the last minute, Iron Age said.

Seek Federal Probe of Drug Price Fixing

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Allegheny County Board of Commissioners sought a federal investigation today of possible price fixing by four drug firms who submitted identical bids for supplying 10,000 units of anti polio vaccine to the County Health Department.

The commissioners decided Tuesday to go ahead with the purchase of the vaccine because of the urgency of the situation, but they instructed County Solicitor Nathaniel K. Beck to inform U.S. Attorney D. Malcolm Anderson of the identical bids.

The bids came from the Federal - Rice, McKesson Robbins, Parke Davis, and Merk, Sharpe and Dohme firms. Each of them set their price for the vaccine at $5.586 per 1,000 units of 9 c.c. each.

The commissioners questioned County Purchasing Agent Michael M. Donohue as to whether he believed the price was fair.

"I can't answer that, but I do know it's the only price at which the county can purchase this vaccine as of today," Donohue said. "It's apparent that we have a case of price fixing here."

The commissioners considered splitting the award of the purchase among the companies, but when Donohue pointed out that only Merck, Sharpe and Dohme had agreed to furnish the vaccine within the required 30 days, the contract went to that firm.

In instructing the solicitor to confer with the U.S. attorney, Commissioner John M. Walker said he understood the federal government already was investigating the possibility of anti-trust violations in the fixing of prices for polio vaccine.

Ward Baking Co. Charged

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Ward Baking Co. has been charged with monopolistic price practices which allegedly forced several independent wholesale bakeries in Western Pennsylvania out of business. The accusation was made in an anti-trust suit filed by Keystone Bakery, Inc., of West Bridgewater.

The suit, filed in federal court here, asks treble damages of $628,500. The complain said Ward Baking seeks to gain a wholesale baked goods monopoly in the district by selling temporarily at low prices.

Keystone charged Ward Baking had reduced bread prices in Beaver County and in adjacent areas of Ohio and West Virginia, while increasing prices in Allegheny County. The suit also alleged the defendant firm gave open discounts for alleged advertising and promotion as well as secret price cuts to selected customers.

Easter Seal Drive in County $3,000 Short

Last minute contributions are going to spell the difference between success or failure of the 1957 Easter Seal campaign in Westmoreland County, according to Robert Rial of Greensburg, chairman of the drive.

A current report indicates that the drive, which comes to a close April 21, is $3,000 short of its goal. The Westmoreland Society for Crippled Children and Adults, which benefits from the annual campaign, set an Easter Seal budget of $21,000 this year to maintain local services to handicapped persons in Westmoreland County.

"If county residents who have not already done so will send in their Easter Seal contribution promptly, it will enable the Society to keep up with the growing need for services to the handicapped", Rial declared in a statement accompanying the report.

The campaign report was presented to the organization's quarterly meeting of directors in Greensburg last night.

Other matters treated by the board included (1) discussion of the relation of the Easter Seal drive to the various systems of federated or united fund campaigns, (2) authorization for the group's executive committee to act upon proposals of the House Committee relating to improved clinic quarters, and (3) nomination of Mrs. A. V. Crookston, the Westmoreland Society prsident, to be a director of the Pennsylvania Society.

Monessen persons who are directors of the Westmoreland Society and who attended the meeting included Mrs. Frank Ezerski, Jr., Stephen Mahovlich and William Pore.

Dope Peddler Wanted for Trial In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (UP)— Pennsylvania authorities tried today to make certain a convicted Ohio narcotics peddler, Edward Todd, 56, doesn't escape punishment here after he completes a 10-year term in the Atlanta Federal Prison.

Judge Henry Ellenbogen of Allegheny County wired U.S. Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell today asking that Todd, former Bellaire, Ohio, cafe owner, be brought here for trial on a narcotics indictment.

Ellenbogen said should Todd be convicted in Pittsburgh, "our sentence would be held in abeyance until after Todd completes his federal sentence."

Todd is a former Hill District narcotics peddler who was labeled the "Mr. Big" of narcotics traffic in the Tri-state area. The Allegheny County indictment charges him with possession and sale of heroin.

The federal sentence was imposed last February at Columbus after he cooperated with federal authorities and gave them details of his operations.

$300,000 Fire in East Liverpool

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (UP)—A general alarm fire, which burned for seven hours, destroyed three business establishments and damaged four others during the night in the center of the city's business district.

Five firemen, including East Liverpool Fire Chief Charles Bryan, 60, were hospitalized. All were reported in good condition today in East Liverpool City Hospital. Several others were treated at the scene.

Asst. Fire Chief Earl Fenton estimated damage at $300,000.

The blaze, of undetermined origin, started Tuesday night in the basement of the Gold Star Dairyland, a combination restaurant, delicatessen and bakery owned by John Eifort, operator of the Gold Star Dairy.

The Dairyland and Zack's Dress Shop were destroyed by the flames and Arlene's Dress Shop was destroyed by water, smoke and heat, Fenton said.

The establishments damaged by smoke or water, or both, were Bondy's Shoe Store, the New York Restaurant, Erlanger' Men's Store and Sloan's Dress Shop.

A total of 125 firemen fought the fire, finally bringing it under control early today. The firefighting units included companies from Midland, Pa., Newell and Chester, W. Va., and several Ohio communities.

The hospitalized firemen, in addition to Chief Bryan, were William Taylor, 32, and Alfred Van Dyne, 48, both of East Liverpool, Lee Haney, 24, Chester, and Robert Michaels, 25, Newell. Taylor suffered hand cuts and the others smoke inhalation.

All the destroyed and damaged establishments were located in two adjoining buildings, one one-story and the other two-story. Three doctors' offices and an attorney's office, located above the New York Restaurant and the Bondy shop in the two-story Rigby Building, also were damaged.

The fire was the biggest in East Liverpool in eight years.

Kiwanis Club Hears Address On Fluoridation

Dr. Joseph Dudas, Jr. was speaker at last night's dinner meeting of the Kiwanis Club held at the Slovak Home. He discussed "Fluoridation of Water" and showed a film on the subject.

President Charles Penwick was in charge of the meeting and Capt. John R. Connors of the Salvation Army asked the invocation.

A report was given on the recent soap sale to earn money for the underprivileged children's program. The team captained by T. W. Read sold the most soap and was treated to a steak dinner.

Rudy Benedetti, immediate past president of the club, who is heading the Post-prom party committe, reported on plans for that event.

On April 30 the local club will be host at a District Kiwanis meeting at the Slovak Home and plans will be announced for this activity.

Erie Mayor for State Subsidies on Bus Lines

ERIE, Pa. (UP)—Mayor Arthur Gardner of Erie proposed state subsidies to privately owned bus companies as a solution to urban mass transportation problems in testimony before the Governor's Committee on Urban Mass Transportation Tuesday.

In a 300-page statement, the mayor proposed that in addition to giving financial aid, the state should set up a study committee to advise bus firms on management.

The governor's committee, which has held hearings in Pittsburgh and Altoona as well as here, is studying the advisability of legislation to improve urban transit service in the state.

At Tuesday's hearing, the Erie Coach Co., the city's only mass transportation system, reported that it has suffered a huge drop in riders since 1947.

Myron Prosser, owner of the firm, proposed in a telegram to the committee that all state taxes on bus companies be eliminated. His stand was supported by Paul McGill, vice president of the Pennsylvania Bus Assn., who pointed out that bus companies now pay levies ranging from liquid fuels, excise and local real estate taxes to license fees.

William Finch, owner of the Millcreek Taxi Service in Millcreek Twp., urged legislation regulating private car pools. He said the pools usually are operated at a profit to the organizer and constitute "unfair competition" to bus and taxicab companies.

Twelve witnesses appeared before the committee at the hearing.

Park Destruction Here a Scandal

THE FLAGRANT destruction and abuse of public property in Monessen, particularly in parks and recreation areas, has reached the stage where some drastic action is called for.

At the beautiful City Park, the wanton vandalism takes some weird forms. Shingles on the roofs of shelters have been used for firewood and the structures themselves hacked with axes. Trees and shrubbery have been lifted wholesale, often the very night after being planted. Axes and knives have been wielded viciously against trees, and many have been completely destroyed. Heavy tools have been used to heave paved walkways and stonework. Fireplaces have been battered.

Sixth Street Park, which was created as a pleasant oasis out of a once-barren hillside, is a scene of tragic and habitual abuse, mostly by school children who should be learning to know better. Finding the walks and steps inconvenient, they have trampled pathways through the shrubbery, creating washed-out gullies. Globes on the ornamental lamposts have to be replaced at the rate of several each week. The litter of paper and rubble is always more than the maintenance crews of the Park Department can handle.

These are but the surface evidences of abuse and destruction which the most casual observer can see at any time. They are bound to be terribly costly to the taxpayers; but worse than that, they discourage and defeat our efforts to make Monessen a more pleasant place to live.

* * *

IT IS OUR opinion that these conditions do not have to be as bad as they are and that our city and school authorities should make immediate and serious plans to correct them.

The regular procedure has been, after a particularly flagrant outbreak of vandalism, for the chief of police to issue a newspaper statement to the effect that an investigation is being made and that the vandals, if caught, will be punished to "the full extent of the law".

But for all the good this has done, the chief may as well save his breath and our space. Nobody's been caught, and nobody's been punished so far as we can recall. And frankly, we doubt if a really serious effort has been made to back up the statements.

At any rate, something more has to be done. And as a starter, we suggest that the chief request the City Council to give him enough emergency police to do a thorough job of guarding the parks and other public property which is being destroyed. It would help, too, if Council were to offer a substantial standing reward for information.

But police work isn't enough. We ought to have a good publicity campaign against littering and general carelessness. It should be designed to teach people to treat public property as their own, which it is.

Part of this should be addressed specifically to school children. The abuse of Sixth Street Park is mainly by High School and Junior High students, who are at an age where they should be acquiring some understanding of good citizenship and its responsibilities and some pride in the appearance of their community. If they aren't getting this understanding both at home and in school, now is the time to start giving it to them.

* * *

THE INDEPENDENT has been a strong advocate of more and better parks and public recreation facilities in Monessen. We have said many times that our present park system is no more than a good start towards what we should have, and we have reason to think that the City's new master plan, now nearing completion, will recognize this need and include recommendations for meeting it.

We stand ready to support a good program of park and recreational development.

But unless we can somehow stop this destruction and improve the public manners of our population, the money which such a program will cost is going to be largely wasted.

We hope our responsible public officials will promptly give this matter thorough consideration and adopt measures to deal with it. And they must not be half-way measures, either, for the condition has gone so far as to call for war on every front until we restore respect for the law and for the rights of all to enjoy what all have been taxed to provide.

Merry-Go-Round—

Say Humphrey Benefitted by Tax Ruling

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — You can write it down as almost certain that Congress will demand an investigation of the cabinteer closest to Ike, Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey, as a result of the tax concessions given to the Arabian-American Oil Co.

Mr. Pearson

The following events and circumstances make the demand inevitable:

1 — Secretary Humphrey did not dispose of his stock in the M. A. Hanna Co. when he took office and this company is now revealed to own $6,885,722 of Standard Oil of N. J. stock. Standard of N. J., a 30 per cent owner of Aramco, greatly benefited from Humphrey's Internal Revenue Service tax ruling.

2 — At the same time Aramco was getting this favorable ruling in one foreign country, Cyrus Eaton has informed senators that his Labrador ore firm got a discriminatory tax ruling in another country. Eaton is in competition with Humphrey's huge M. A. Hanna ore operations in Labrador and has informed senators that Humphrey's office collected taxes from his company which should have been waived under a tax treaty with Canada banning double taxation.

Also Serves GOP

3 — The counsel of the Treasury who passes on these matters for Humphrey is primarily a politician. Fred C. Scribner has been serving as counsel for the Republican National Committee at the same time he served as general counsel of the Treasury. This is unprecedented. Scribner has now been promoted to be assistant secretary of the Treasury.

4 — The counsel of Internal Revenue who initially passes on these matters is Nelson Rose a member of the Cleveland law firm which represents the M. A. Hanna Co. Rose did not occupy this position when the Aramco tax benefit was OK'd. However, his brother, Chapman Rose, also a member of the firm handling M. A. Hanna's legal work, was assistant secretary of the Treasury and one of the closest men to Humphrey. The tax concession to Aramco permitted that company to pay taxes to King Saud instead of a similar amount to him in royalties. This saves Aramco about $100,000,000 a year and its parent companies, including Standard of N. J., about $80,000,000.

The interesting fact which senators have dug up is that the contract between Saudi Arabia and Aramco provided that Arabia should not impose a tax of any kind on Aramco. Yet to save Aramco money it was arranged in 1954 that it should pay an income tax to King Saud at the expense of the Treasury Department, where George Humphrey has sworn to be a vigilant tax collector.

Why Canada Steams

There are a couple of backstage factors the public doesn't know about which makes the Canadian sore as blazes over Ambassador Norman's suicide and the leak of the Senate Internal Security Committee.

The Canadian government remembers all too vividly how the same Senate committee adopted the same leak tactics back in 1954 and how a protest was lodged with the State Department. The man who best remembers it is the No. 2 man in the Canadian government, Lester Pearson, Minister of Foreign Affairs. He remembers it because the leak involved him.

Back in 1951 Elizabeth Bentley, the confessed Communist agent, testified to Senate agents that she had received some Canadian information of which Lester Pearson had been the source. Later, in 1954, when Attorney General Brownell dug the dust-covered Harry Dexter White matter out of Justice Department files for political purposes he made much a better suppressio veri when a high Canadian official...

All of this made the Canadians sore. The Canadian press stormed and the Canadian government made it clear that violation of the letter and spirit of confidence

On top of this Senators Jenner and McCarthy promised bringing Igor Gouzenko, the former Russian code clerk to Washington to testify in a move anticipated by Canadians as aimed at embarrassing Foreign Minister Pearson.

"The wolf-howling, blabber-mouths of the United States" commented the Toronto Star, "are apparently after Lester Pearson."

Improving the Foreign Service

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

For right reasons or wrong — mostly wrong — Congress has a very low estimate of the men and women who make up the American Foreign Service. And if Gallup were to poll public opinion, no one would be surprised to find that most didn't know what the Foreign Service is or didn't care, that many thought it ought to be replaced with "good Americans" and a few thought it "efficient."

Mr. Drummond

Anytime a speaker wants to get an easy laugh from an audience all he has to do is make some "unwise" crack about our "tea-drinking striped-pants diplomatic set."

This is unfair, unfortunate, mostly untrue. It weakens our government. Something ought to be done about it.

A proposal to do something about it has just been put forward in Congress by a bi-partisan bloc of five Democratic and five Republican representatives who come from districts ranging from Massachusetts to California.

Urge Commission

Their proposal is that a 23-member commission — 8 congressmen and 15 presidential appointees — study and report to Congress "on ways and means of expanding and modernizing the Foreign Service of the United States."

Their frank objective is what its chief sponsor, Rep. Leo W. O'Brien, D., N. Y., describes as a "massive transfusion of Main Street into the arteries of the Foreign Service."

The State Department particularly should cordially support this project. It could bring about two very useful results.

It could well stimulate a much wider cross-section of young American college graduates to apply for the Foreign Service and thus give the Foreign Service a still wider selectivity of good people.

It could well equip Congress with a better understanding of what a fine, representative group of Americans the Foreign Service already is to the end that Congress would be willing to create conditions which no longer make it necessary for a President to draw only on men of large means for many top diplomatic posts.

For example, the 10 congressmen sponsoring the resolution make this point:

"Many of our young people subconsciously believe there is a 'silken curtain' between them and the Foreign Service. Rightly or wrongly, they have the vague impression that the Foreign Service is for a special group of our society."

Quite possibly many young people think that the Foreign Service is made up of a group "set apart," some vague elite. But that isn't true. Four, five and six years ago when the State Department was being hounded with meat-axe charges of disloyalty, applicants for the Foreign Service dropped to a mere trickle of 700 to 800 a year. Today some 7,000 to 8,000 students from campuses all across the country are taking the Foreign Service examinations every year and I suspect that "Main Street" is well represented.

The 10 congressmen who want to make the Foreign Service better — and more power to them — rightly lament that "our highest diplomatic posts, where costly entertaining is a factor, are, in effect, 'reserved' for wealthy persons."

President Eisenhower said the same thing at his press conference last week. He explained that he was trying to increase career appointments but that certain posts "can be held only by people who have got money of their own to spend. That is unfortunate, I think, but it is true."

Congress and only Congress can wipe out this limitation. It can do it anytime it is willing to provide adequate allowances so that the President isn't forced to draw exclusively on men of wealth but can select the most qualified people, whether wealthy or not.

My own feeling is that this proposal for a study of Foreign Service is desirable, timely and headed in the right direction. It has a built-in benefit because in seeking out what may be wrong in recruiting the Foreign Service, such a study can hardly fail to show what is wrong in Congress' own attitude toward the Foreign Service.

The Foreign Service is no longer the preserve of a clique of a few universities. It draws its talent when top ambassadorial posts are not walled off and when the rewards and working conditions of the service are improved.

National Affairs—

Congress Frustrated In Reducing Budget

By VINCENT J. BURKE

WASHINGTON (UP) — Here's a puzzle.

Unravel it and you'll have a better understanding of the difficulties facing members of Congress who hope to reduce the President's budget enough to justify cutting everybody's taxes.

The story goes back more than two years.

Item One — Eisenhower on Jan. 17, 1955, sent Congress a spending budget of $64,300,000,000. That was the amount he planned to spend from July 1, 1955 through June 30, 1956.

Item Two — Congress refused to give Eisenhower all the new money he wanted. It cut his appropriations by a total of 544 million dollars.

Item Three — Actual federal spending during the 12 months ending June 30, 1956, went up. The administration spent $66,500,000,000 or $2,200,000,000 more than the original budget estimate.

This illustrates the difficulties and frustrations facing Congress whenever it tries to cut a President's budget.

The explanation is that actually Congress doesn't directly approve or disapprove — or even act on — the President's budget.

An Advance Estimate

The present record peacetime budget of nearly 72 billion dollars is merely the President's advance estimate of how much he will spend in the year starting next July 1 from (1) funds already available and (2) new money which he is asking Congress to appropriate.

Congress in its present so-called "budget-cutting drive" is merely whacking away at the appropriation bills carrying new money. But some of the money which it is cutting out isn't even included in the budget. These are funds which the President plans to spend in future years.

This year the President requested appropriations of more than 73 billion dollars in new money, a good share of which is not budgeted for spending in the coming fiscal year.

In some cases, the President himself doesn't have any control over the amount which is spent.

A good example is the farm price support program. Congress has authorized the Commodity Credit Corp. to draw as much money out of the Treasury as it needs for buying up surplus crops under advance price support commitments made to farmers.

Depends On Weather

If the weather is good and the crop harvest is big this fall, federal spending on that program will be higher than the President "guessed" in his budget message last January. The opposite will be true if there are crop failures.

House Democratic leaders have said that if tax revenues continue to hold up and if Congress makes a big enough dent in money bills, they will launch a drive for legislation this summer to cut everybody's taxes, effective Jan. 1.

If the drive is started and the administration opposes it, you'll hear a lot of charges and countercharges as to whether the prospective budget surplus is big enough to justify tax relief.

At that point neither side will really know for sure how much the federal government is going to spend in the coming fiscal year and how much it will take in revenue.

In January, 1955, the President forecast a surplus of 200 million dollars for fiscal 1956. Actual spending exceeded his forecast by more than 2 billion and revenues exceeded the forecast by $3,600,000,000. Result: The surplus amounted to $1,600,000,000.

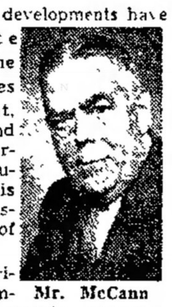
Behind The News—

Nuclear Threats May Speed Disarmament

By CHARLES M. McCANN

Realization that Western Europe's defense must be based on nuclear weapons may start the big powers on the way to disarmament at last.

Three recent developments have brought acute awareness in the Treaty countries of Europe that, as things stand today, the wartime use of nuclear weapons is one of the inescapable facts of life.



Mr. McCann

First was Britain's revolutionary new armaments program, which involves the shifting of that country's defense to a nuclear basis.

Russia Issues Threats

Secondly was the statement by Chancellor Konrad Adenauer that the new West German Army must have tactical atomic weapons.

Thirdly was the outburst of threats by Soviet Russia, still continuing, that any NATO country which permits the establishment of nuclear weapons bases on its territory faces catastrophe in event of war.

Taken together, these developments seem to have increased the possibility that the five-nation disarmament subcommittee of the United Nations, now meeting in London, may take the first step before long toward a disarmament agreement.

London dispatches suggest that the first step may be an agreement for a cut in the size of conventional armaments.

A Smaller Army

It would be only a short step. But it would be the first fruit of 11 years of negotiations between the Western powers and Soviet Russia. If that step were taken, negotiations on the eventual abolition of nuclear weapons would have better chance of success.

Britain's program, calling for a smaller army, the abolition of the draft and the complete shifting of defense to the atomic weapons age, came as a shock to the governments of Western European NATO countries.

Britain's new arms program, and Adenauer's call for A-weapons, constituted nothing more than recognition of a situation which already existed—the recognition that as things stand now nuclear weapons are sure to be used if a great war breaks out.

The one encouraging development, and a big one, is the possibility that the London disarmament conference may now break its long deadlock.

The Woman's View—

'Pull' Helps Actress

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UP) — A girl does not have to come from an acting family to make her way on Broadway. But it helps.

Sarah Marshall, 24, blonde and lovely, said the advantages of having parents in the theater or movies far outweigh the disadvantages.

Miss Marshall, who has a featured role in the comedy "Visit To a Small Planet," is the daughter of Edna Best and Herbert Marshall. (They were divorced several years ago and both since have remarried).

"If you want to get parts, any pull or push is to be used," said Miss Marshall. "Being the 'daughter of' helps get you past the secretary of the producer, anyway.

"And sometimes the producer thinks, 'We must see her . . . she is the daughter of . . .'"

"But," she added, "another producer will turn you down for the same reason.

"Once you get your chance, you're on your own. No family strings can help you then.

"I remember once losing a television role because of Mummy. Oh, she wasn't directly to blame. She was playing the mother in some thing they were doing. Without knowing she was even cast, I read for the role of the daughter. Didn't get it. Producer said I was not the type to play Edna Best's offspring."

Sarah Marshall is one of a whole batch of young actors and actresses helping to keep the family name in lights, either on Broadway or in Hollywood.

Others include Sydney Chaplin, son of Charles Chaplin; Michael King, son of the veteran actor-singer, Dennis King; Jason Robards Jr., whose father was in the silent films; Anthony Perkins, son of comedian Osgood Perkins, and James MacArthur, son of Helen Hayes.

Miss Marshall, born in London, moved with her parents to Hollywood when she was six. She attended Westlake, a private school, where her classmates included a couple of other girls now following in the family footsteps—Melinda Markey, daughter of Joan Bennett, and Elizabeth Montgomery, offspring of Robert Montgomery.

She never finished school—"I decided I was wasting time, if I wanted to act."

Xenophobia is the word to describe anyone who hates foreigners.

Sodality Plans for May Activities

Plans for the annual Mother's Day observance were made when the Young Ladies Sodality of St. Cajetan R. C. Church met in the church hall for the April business session on Tuesday evening.

Prefect Betty Manderino was in charge and the opening prayer was led by the Rev. Leonard Sanesi, spiritual director.

On Mother's Day, May 12, the girls will attend the 8 a. m. mass and receive Holy Communion in a body along with their mothers. Immediately preceding the mass, the mother of the sodalists will be crowned "Queen of Mothers".

A committee of sodalists along with the officers will have a special meeting to select the queen.

Breakfast Following

Following the mass there will be a breakfast at Johnson's restaurant for the sodalists and their mothers. Gloria Salotti is chairman of the breakfast arrangements and she will choose her own committee. Girls will be notified by the committee concerning further details on the breakfast.

On Holy Thursday, the Sodality will meet in the church for a one hour vigil with the Blessed Sacrament from 11 p. m. until midnight. All girls must be present and any girl, who needs transportation to and from the church is asked to contact the president.

Parish Banquet

On Sunday, May 5, at 6 p. m., a Parish Banquet will be held and members of the Sodality will serve onthe reception committee. Father Sanesi asked the cooperation of the group in promoting this affair. Don Cornell will be the entertainer featured on the floor show. The newly formed Sodality Glee Club will provide special music at the banquet and any sodalist wishing to belong to the club, who has not already signed up, is asked to contact Betty Manderino. Rehearsal for the banquet program will be held immediately after the Easter holiday.

A letter was read from St. Vincent College asking the girls to attend the Passion Play, "Only A Dream".

New Members

A campaign for new members is now in progress and several were introduced at the meeting, Gladys Hendrickson, Rose Ellen Duche, Billie Ann Mustybrook, Magdalene Dominico, Joyce Bucci and Ann Marie DiFlorio.

Father Sanesi discussed rules and regulations of the Sodality and it was decided to revise them and draw up a constitution. A committee under the direction of Father Sanesi and consisting of Virginia Orrico, Adele Aloisi, Gloria Salotti, Elizabeth Manderino and Jose Marie DiGioia and the officers will prepare the constitution. After it is approved by the Sodality, the constitution will be printed in book form and each member will receive a copy.

Virginia Orrico reported that plans for initiation in May have been dropped due to the various other activities in May. The initiation will be held in December as in previous years. Bank night was won by Gloria Lupoli and the meeting was closed with prayer.

In addition to the luncheon and playing of cards there will be a sale of candy, cakes and cookies and there will be many prizes awarded.

California Looks Good in Tennis

Monessen High is an early favorite to win the Section 4 tennis race this season. However California just might prove a real surprise. The Trojans polished off North Huntingdon in eight straight exhibition matches the other day . . . Incidentally tennis enthusiasm is high at California. Coach Ray Pecuch, who is also chairman of Section 4, figures he has a pretty good squad . . . Monessen will pin most of its net hopes on a couple of all-around athletes, Joe Kurev and Jim Baker. They're both juniors with great potential. Last season, the youngsters won their share of matches against tough foes from Mt. Lebanon, Connellsville and Brentwood. Other returning lettermen in tennis are Dennis D'Alessio and Ron D'Angelo.

Pirate baseball games at Brooklyn on Saturday and Sunday of this week will be televised beginning at 2 p. m. on KDKA-TV. They will be the first in a series of weekend games to be carried on the magic screen . . . Jack Parr, former all-around athlete at Brownsville High, is training with the Brooklyn farmhands again at Vero Beach, Fla. Parr had returned to his Grindstone home following the death of his mother last week . . . Pennsylvania will contribute no less than 13 players to the 1957 Notre Dame football squad. That's more than any other state.

Agitation for Valley Softball League

There's agitation again to organize a Mon Valley Softball League. Most of the interest at the moment centers in Monongahela. The boys down that way hope to lure teams from Monessen, Belle Vernon, Donora, Charleroi and any other interested valley community . . . Official starter for the Greene County track meet this season will be Chauncey Shives, former Belle Vernon football coach who is now at Bethlehem Joint . . . John Riser, the Pitt basketballer who looked so good in the recent Ozark Basketball Tournament at the MHS gym, scored 101 points for a Midland team during the East Liverpool tournament Midland wound up winning the title.

"Without Carl Witmyer, Charleroi is just another team." So states Bellmar baseball boss Bap Manzini, who hastens to add: "But what a pitcher Witmyer is. I could win the valley title with him." . . . Incidentally Manzini is secretly pleased with his current Bellmar cast. He regards them as the most spirited bunch he's ever coached. The youngsters even practiced on their own last Sunday . . . Donora's Gene Massari earned a letter in freshman basketball at Pitt. And Bernard Ravish, of Monongahela, won a Panther letter in squash.

Lenhart to Be Forgotten Man Again

It looks as though Jim Lenhart, of Charleroi, will be a forgotten man at Pitt again next football season. Jim tossed a touchdown pass in an intra-squad game last weekend, but Panther coaches remain unimpressed. They regard Lenhart as "too slow." The quarterbacking job will be handled by Homestead's Bill Kalinden. A sophomore named Ivan Toncic will probably spell off Kalinden with Lenhart warming his usual seat on the bench . . . Slow or not, Lenhart is a fine passer and it seems his talents are being wasted . . . Jack Brown, the Pirate pitching hopeful from Elizabeth, has been optioned to the Columbus Jets in the International League.

Stengel Wants Eighth American Loop Pennant

NEW YORK (UP)—Casey Stengel was off and running today toward his eighth American League pennant, "The one he wants most of all."

Stengel made it quite plain to his Yankee players before they went out and beat Washington 2-1 Tuesday that they won't get this year's pennant served up on a platter the way most observers seem to think.

"We all got the impression that this is the pennant Casey wants most of all," explained one veteran member of the world champions. "It's easy to understand. If we can win it this time that'll give him eight pennants with the Yankees and tie Joe McCarthy's record. It's a matter of pride with him and the players would like him a one-way ticket to Baseball's Hall of Fame."

Stengel worked as observers especially some of the younger ones who still are new with the Yankees that it wouldn't be a breeze.

And he looked like a prophet Tuesday as left-hander Chuck Stobbs blanked the Yankees on curves, sliders and change-ups for six innings while the Senators went ahead in the seventh when Roy Sievers nailed Whitey Ford for a 380-foot homer into the left field stands.

Yogi Berra caught the pitching of Stobbs seven innings before the game however and name-

Donora Smothers MHS Nine in Constant Drizzle by 11 to 4

Mon-on High's baseballers are sorry today that they didn't listen to the weather man.

The Greyhounds played Donora at Ninth Street Park yesterday despite an almost constant drizzle. They were submerged by the visitors, 11-4.

There was a lot of fun even before the Section 17 game started. About 3 o'clock; the tussle was called off but the hearty baseballers agreed to "call it on again" at 4. That proved a mistake as far as the Hounds were concerned.

The visiting Dragons wrapped things up with an explosive third inning in which they scored five runs. Donora added four more in the fourth.

13 Hits for Donora

In all, the Dragons shelled Monessen pitchers Dan Barton and Walt Jackson for 13 hits. Eloy Ramirez collected a triple and three singles.

Dave Russell chipped in with a homer and single while Bill Sento had a pair of doubles for the victors.

John Kaminsky did the heavy bombarding for Monessen, docking a triple and two singles. Carl Crawley and Tom Churan each had doubles.

Roddy Goes Route

Butler Roddy, a sophomore, went the route for the Donorans, fanning 11. He pitched eight hit ball and coasted after his mates supplied him with a big lead.

Monessen's next assignment will be against pace-setting Charleroi tomorrow at Ninth Street Park.

Friend Goes Route Before Sellout Crowd; Arroyo Works Today

PITTSBURGH (UP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates, who treated a sellout hometown crowd to a victory in their season opener, and the New York Giants send their Puerto Rican hurlers to the mound today in the concluding game of a two-game series.

Southpaw Luis Arroyo, in trim after his wining nine-inning exhibition performance for the Pirates at Charleston, W. Va., last Saturday, will oppose righthander Ruben Gomez. Both clubs leave after the game for New York, where the Pirates open a four-game series with Brooklyn and the Giants host Philadelphia.

Righthander Bob Friend, the workhorse of the Pirate pitching staff, got the home season off to a good start as he hurled a 9-2 victory over the Giants in the Tuesday opener before 33,405 fans, largest opening day attendance at Forbes Field in nine years.

11 Giants Stranded

Friend went the distance, and although he was reached for 10 hits he pitched out of trouble. The Giants left 11 men stranded on base.

The Pirates pocketed the game with six runs, five of them unearned, in the eighth inning. Two consecutive throwing errors by third baseman Daryl Spencer set up the unearned markers.

Lefty Antonelli, the losing pitcher, allowed only three hits but yielded three runs and six bases on balls in a seven-inning stint.

Pirate first baseman Frank Thomas, who failed to hit a home run in 30 spring exhibition games, hit the game's only homer in the second inning.

Bucs Bat Around

The Giants tied it in the third when Red Schoendist doubled, his 2,001st hit in the majors, and came around on two infield groundouts.

The Pirates made it a 3-1 game in the fifth with two runs on a double by Hank Foiles, two walks, and two sacrifices, and the Giants got their second run in the seventh on a double by Schoendienst and a single by Willie Mays.

The Pirates batted around in the eighth with Bill Virdon getting two singles and driving in two runs. Dick Groat's triple brought in one run and Dale Long singled home another. The scoring came off Marv Grissom and Gordon Jones.

Right Club for Sandtrap Shots

Many a golfer goes on playing bad sandtrap shots for months and years because he lacks the proper club for the shot.

The proper club for playing out of the sand has a protruding flange with a rounded bottom. If you set this club down in the normal, shot-making position on a hard level surface, the flange will rest on the level surface; and the leading edge of the blade, or face, will clear this surface by a visible amount. Never mind by how much the face of the club rides above the level surface. Just make sure the clearance is visible.

The idea is for the rounded flange to contact the sand first. Then, if you hit the sand a little too far behind the ball, the rounded bottom will cause the clubhead to bounce on through. The result is at least a fair shot.

With a club that permits the sharper leading edge of the clubhead to make the first contact with the sand, the clubhead will just go on down in the sand and will keep you from following through. It will, more importantly, stop the clubhead too quickly. For successful sand shots, you must keep the clubhead moving through the sand.

Webb Wants Shot at Champ

CHICAGO (UP) —Fight Manager Hec Knowles registered a protest in advance today on behalf of his star middleweight, Spider Webb, who tangles with Randy Sandy in the weekly television scrap tonight.

"I don't think it's fair for Carmen Basilio to talk about fighting the middleweight champion," Knowles said, "at least until he's cleaned up the welterweights."

Basilio, the 147-pound titleholder, and Gene Fullmer, now the middleweight champion, both were known to be interested in an early summer battle for a "big payday" for each fighter.

But Knowles believed such an encounter would penalize Webb, now the world's third ranked 160-pounder, and a heavy favorite to defeat Sandy tonight.

Sandy, though the underdog, could upset Knowles' contention. In his last outing he lost a split decision to Joey Giardello, also a rated middleweight, and he planned to stand off Webb with his jabbing attack

Hundley Headed For Knicks in Pro Cage Draft

ST. LOUIS (UP) —Charlie Tyra of Louisville, Hot Rod Hundley of West Virginia and Lennie Rosenbluth of North Carolina are tabbed as the cream of the crop in the National Basketball Association's annual draft of collegiate players today.

Tyra is almost certain to go to the transplanted Cincinnati Royals who get first pick this year. Hundley may go next to the New York Knickerbockers, who traded the Detroit Pistons out of their second choice on the first round

The third - picking Minneapolis Lakers are expected to grab Rosenbluth, the ace of the national champion Tar Heels.

The St. Louis Hawks, the Western Division champs who pick fourth, may go for a hometown boy. Jim Krebs, the big man of Southwest Conference champion Southern Methodist, hails from the St. Louis suburb of Webster Groves.

The draft which gets underway this afternoon will be the highlight of the two-day league meeting, but Thursday the NBA owners will hold a business session which will include a "family" discussion with seven player representatives.

To fill out the first round of the draft, the New York Knicks, who follow St. Louis with their regular choice, and Syracuse, next in line, both are interested in George Bonsalle, the 6-foot-8 Illinois center, and Philadelphia is hopeful of getting Win Wilfong of Memphis State.

The champion Boston Celtics are last in line and have an unidentified "sleeper" in mind

Today's Sports Parade —

Dressen, Stengal Trade Personalities

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) —Just from watching them, you couldn't have told which was Casey Stengel and which was Chuck Dressen.

This was before the opening game of the season at Yankee Stadium and Stengel, the man who admits he should make it eight pennants in nine years, was edgy and gruff. Dressen, a man you might figure to be irritable, was bright and affable.

It marked the difference between a man with some place to go and one who knows his club isn't expected to go anywhere but the bottom of the barrel.

The Finish Counts

"It ain't how you start," Stengel barked as he contemplated the 37th opening game of his career. "It's how you stand on the last day of the season."

Somebody asked him whether any of all the opening games he has seen since 1910 stood out in his mind.

"I can't answer that," he growled. "After a while they all get jumbled together. But I do know the best season I ever had That was the one at Brooklyn when they paid me not to manage. That was one of the better years because I made a lot of money outside baseball and got paid, too."

Meanwhile, Dressen, whose heroes as expected opened the season a day early with a loss, relaxed in a large circle of hecklers

Tells Of Meeting Ike

"The opening of the season is always a kick," he was saying. "But the best was two years ago when I met the President."

Dressen toed the turf and grinned:

"That's the day I told President Eisenhower how to cure his bursitis. We're getting ready for the ceremonies and he says to me 'I don't think I can throw the ball over the photographers' heads, my bursitis is so bad.' So I tell him about this here machine I know about and I write it down for him. The upshot is they send him one of those machines—and I got one for free, too."

Musial Collects Four Hits as Cardinals Swamp Redlegs, 13-4

By UNITED PRESS

Stan Musial and Watten Spahn — two baseball gaffers — acted like old fire horses when they heard the bell sound for the opening of the 1957 campaign

Musial, now 36 years old and in his 17th season with the St. Louis Cardinals, collected four hits in four official at-bats in pacing the Redbirds to a 13-4 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Spahn, who celebrates his 36th birthday Saturday and pitched his first major league game with the old Boston Braves back in 1942, got Milwaukee off flying by hurling a four-hit, 4-1 triumph over the Chicago Cubs

A crowd of 32 554 at Cincinnati watched the Redlegs absorb their worst opening day defeat in 46 years And Musial emerged as the biggest culprit, whacking out two singels and two doubles as the Cardinals bombarded four Cincinnati pitchers for 17 hits Herm Wehmeier went the route for St Louis, scattering eight safeties

Rush Bears Brunt

Spahn struck out five and issued only one walk in picking up right where he left off last year, when he was the Braves' leading pitcher with 20 victories However, he wasn't the whole show at Chicago. The Braves scored all their runs off Bob Rush in the sixth inning with Johnny Logan's homer and Ed Mathews' triple the key blows

In other National League openers, Gino Cimoli's 12th inning homer gave the Dodgers a 7-6 victory over the Phillies and the Pirates trounced the Giants, 9-2 The Yankees opened defense of their American League pennant by edging the Senators, 2-1, while the Red Sox turned back the Orioles 4-2, the Athletics downed the Tigers 2-1, and the White Sox clipped the Indians, 3-2 on an 11th inning single by Larry Doby

Robin Roberts who set a major league record last year by serving up 46 home run balls, opened the new season with three "gopher" pitches In addition to Cimoli's winning blast, Roberts disappointed a record Phillies' opening turnout of 37 667 by giving up homers to Don Zimmer and Gil Hodges

After Hodges' clout tied the score at 6-6 in the eighth, Clem Labine took over for Don Newcombe, who gave up nine hits and all the Phils' runs and Clem allowed only two safeties the rest of the way.

Tough In Clutch

The Pirates scored six runs — five of them unearned—in the eighth inning while routing the Giants before 33,405 fans — the largest opening day crowd at Forbes Field in nine years. Bob Friend gave up 10 hits, but was tough in the clutch as New York stranded 11 men. A crowd of 38,227—the largest opening day turnout—watched the Red Sox down the Orioles at Baltimore. Tom Brewer, who beat the Orioles four times last season, received credit for the victory although he needed relief from Ike Delock in the eighth inning.

A ninth-inning single by Andy Carey with the bases loaded carried the Yankees to their opening victory and broke up a tight pitching duel between Whitey Ford and Chuck Stobbs Ford allowed only six hits while the Yanks nicked Stobbs for seven, including a seventh-inning homer by Yogi Berra.

Tom Morgan, a Yankee castoff, pitched four-hit ball for the A's against the Tigers. Gus Zernial homered off Frank Lary in the sixth and the A's tallied their decisive run in the seventh on a single by Jim Pisoni, a sacrifice by Morgan and another single by Joe Demaestri

Doby's key blow for the White Sox broke up another good pitching duel between Billy Pierce and the Indians' Herb Score. Luis Aparicio opened the 11th with a single, moved up on Nellie Fox's sacrifice, and scored on Doby's single to center Score struck out 10 men and gave up only seven hits, but issued 11 passes Pierce whiffed nine and allowed eight hits.

Littlefield Now With Chicago Cubs

CHICAGO (UP) —The Chicago Cubs had southpaw hurler Dick Littlefield and outfielder Bob Lennon in the fold today and the New York Giants had ex-Cubs Ray Katt and Ray Jablonski. Everybody seemed happy about the swap.

"Katt and Jablonski were expendable so far as we were concerned," Cub manager Bob Scheffing explained

Giant manager Bill Rigney said he, too, was satisfied with the trade.

"We are getting experience behind the plate (Katt) and a good right - handed pinch hitter," Rigney said.

Sale of Liquor To Teenager Is Subject of Appeal

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The state Supreme Court took under advisement Tuesday the question of whether a person who sells liquor to a teenager can be held financially responsible for an automobile accident in which a teenager is later involved.

The high court reviewed an appeal from a lower court decision which held that a tavern keeper was not responsible for a $10,000 liability verdict against him and the teenager.

The jury verdict stemmed from an accident in 1950 when a car driven by Stanley Kordowski, of Essington, 16 years old at the time, collided with another car and injured its occupants, Mr. and Mrs. Don Manning, of Ridley Township.

The Mannings brought a liability suit against the teenager, and taproom owner, Dominic Yokas, of Ridley Park. They claimed Yokas violated a Pennsylvania statute, The Innkeepers Act of 1854, when he sold intoxicants to Kordowski, and contended the drinks caused the accident.

The act of 1854 was repealed in 1951, a year before the Mannings brought their suit.

PRR Employes Vote on Strike

PHILADELPHIA (UP) —Some 25,000 maintenance employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad will take a strike ballot this week in a dispute centering on work assignments.

Members of 60 locals of the Transport Workers Union began voting Monday, and are expected to wind up the balloting on Friday. The disayreement stems from a contract signed by the railroad with the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

The pact, signed March 28 and effective April 1, provides that trainmen will receive extra wages for coupling and uncoupling trains. The union charged that the work was being "pirated" from union members.

Utilities Granted Tax Extension

HARRISBURG (UP) — State public utilities have been granted an additional 30 day extension to May 31 for filing of their annual 3 per cent sales tax returns.

Revenue Secretary Gerald A. Gleeson said the extension was granted because final regulations governing the utilities were still being worked out. Gleeson said the new regulations covering tax obligations would be issued by the end of the month.

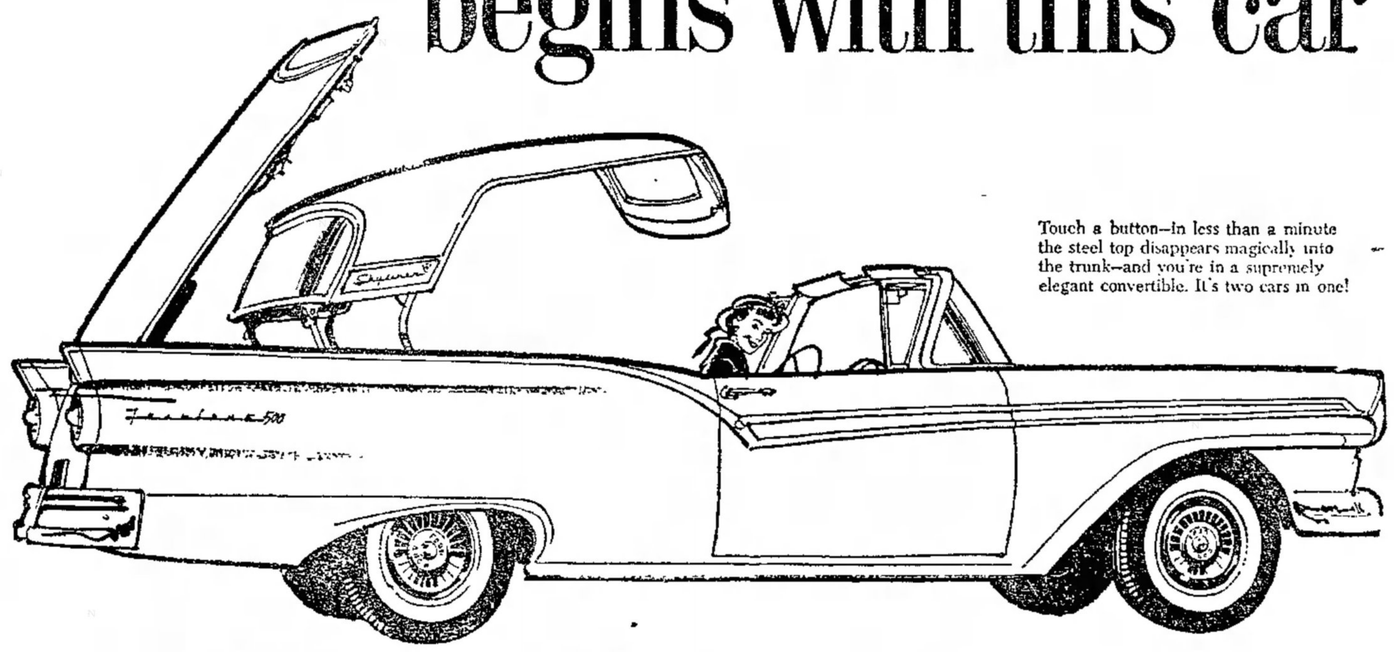
A new age of automobiles begins with this car



Touch a button—In less than a minute the steel top disappears magically into the trunk—and you're in a supremely elegant convertible. It's two cars in one!

Here Today! The FORD SKYLINER—world's only Hide-Away hardtop

Once in a long, long while a car comes along that people remember and talk about for years after its introduction.

The first model "A" Ford was such a car . . .

The first Ford V-8 was such a car . . .

The first Ford Thunderbird was such a car.

Today Ford Division is proud to announce still another car that many say is destined to become the most famous Ford of all: The Skyliner—world's only hide-away hardtop.

If you plan to buy a new Ford, or already own one, the fact that Ford created this car is important to you. For all the exhaustive research, planning and testing that went into the Skyliner is evidence of the engineering skill you get in every Ford model.

The Ford SKYLINER, the only all-steel hide-away hardtop, is a car for history.

This is an old dream of Detroit, a dream of two generations of motorists.

And today Ford has made that dream come true—in steel.

But the story behind this dream is a story of men who refused to accept "no" for an answer. In the Ford tradition they kept striving toward the goal long after others had given up the chase.

To understand this Ford spirit you must go back to 1908. That was the year when many Detroiters smiled smugly as Henry Ford announced, "We will build a motor car for the great multitude . . . so low in price that no man making a good salary will be unable to own one."

And they did.

Today, nearly a half century later, Ford continues to cause the "experts" to change their tune. When you see this all-steel hardtop that retracts into a convertible, you'll be seeing a car that many said would never be mass-produced.

But Ford did it.

The styling group was first to work on it. They experimented. They improvised. They worked unceasingly. Finally they completed a power-operated three-eighths scale model that actually would convert.

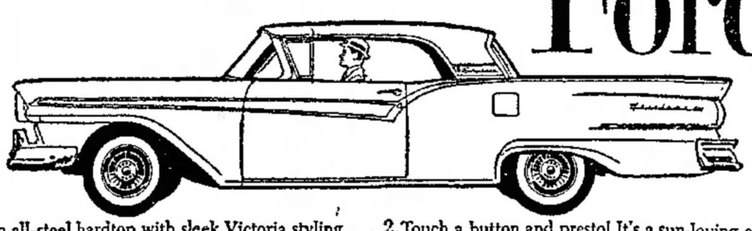
It was December 1956—after eight years of research, planning, experimenting and testing—when Ford unveiled this masterpiece . . . unveiled it amid all the pomp and splendor of the New York Automobile Show.

And now this history-making car, this prototype of a whole future generation of cars, is ready for your own personal inspection in the showrooms of many Ford Dealers.

Plan to see it soon. And ask your Dealer to show you the exciting advances in all models of the new Ford line for '57.

In creating the Skyliner, the world's only all-steel hide-away hardtop, Ford continues its tradition of being first with the important innovations. Come in and see this newest example of Ford's leadership. Let us give you the exciting details on this revolutionary car—and the other great '57 Ford models. Discover for yourself the things you get in Ford that no other car can offer. Discover for yourself why the '57 Ford leads all other cars in sales.

A car born of the habit of being first ...the newest new kind of Ford



1. It's an all-steel hardtop with sleek Victoria styling . . . 2. Touch a button and presto! It's a sun-loving convertible!

Special Services Close Tonight At Brownstown

The annual Missionary Convention of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church of Brownstown will close this evening.

The Rev. Paul E. Carlson will present a talk on Indo China and will show colored slides.

After seven months' study of the French language in Paris, the Rev. Mr. Carlson arrived in French Indo China in January, 1926. Having spent all his four terms of service in Cochin, China he is well-known to both the Vietnamese and the French people throughout that region.

By native bus, horse cart and sampan, he has travelled to practically every remote section of southern Indo China and is the only missionary ever to have preached the gospel on the islands of Phu Quoc and Hon Rai in the Gulf of Siam. He was also invited to preach to prisoners in the federal prison at Poulo Condore.

The earlier years of his ministry were given largely to evangelism and he witnessed a great development in the establishment of self-supporting churches. In later years, much of his time was spent in translation short term Bible schools, and conference work, as well as a new system of hymn translation.

Upon his return to Indo China he will be in charge of the Bible School at Tourane.

Time for service is 7:30 p. m. The Rev. Roland Gray is church pastor.

Hits Hiring of Tax Deputies

HARRISBURG (UP)—Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom advised Gov. George M. Leader today to "get a new revenue secretary if he lacks confidence in his present one instead of putting in new deputies every other month."

Bloom said the appointment of A. Allen Sulcowe as first deputy secretary of revenue at a $16,500 annual salary was $1,500 more than Revenue Secretary Gerald A. Gleeson receives. Bloom charged the salary difference "is evidence that the governor is unsatisfied with the way the department is being run."

"If he (Leader) has no confidence in Secretary Gleeson, he should replace him rather than add cost on cost by employing new deputies at salaries higher than those paid the nominal head of the department," Bloom said.

Present legislation stipulates a $20,000 salary for the revenue secretary but Gleeson did not qualify for the increase because he was already in office when the law was enacted.

Air Force to Have Atomic Planes by '63

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Air Force now expects to have its first nuclear-powered combat plane flying by 1963 or 1964 it was learned today

After a series of stops starts stretch-outs and besetting technical problems the Air Force has put the program on a firm schedule which is reported to please the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee

In the face of congressional criticism of the nuclear-power-for-aircraft project Air Secretary Donald A Quarles has been describing the new development schedule in a series of appearances before congressional committees His testimony has not yet been made public

Quarles has told one committee the Air Force has decided to back up and take a new hitch concentrating on materials and reactor designs rather than going all-out on a complete airplane

As a result he has said it now will be "a few years later" than once thought when the airplane flies

But it will be a useful combat plane rather than a "flying reactor" according to Quarles.

NOT SO HOT, SCULPTOR SAYS OF THREE OF THESE — Los Angeles model Virginia De Lee has the most perfect body he has ever seen, says sculptor Joseph Dubronyi, and the famed forms of Anita Ekberg, Jayne Mansfield and Ava Gardner aren't really beautiful. "None of them come up to my idea of a beautiful body," quoth Dubronyi. He's in the business of doing nudes of them in bronze, but if this sort of talk keeps up, you wonder if business will. Incidentally, Virginia, 21, is 35-22-35. Said she, "If Mr. Dubronyi says I'm beautiful then it must be true. He has great artistic ability."

Meaning of Easter—

Easter Can Mean New Life, Joy and Peace, Triumph Over Pain

(This is the third of four articles by leading Protestant and Catholic theologians on the meaning of Easter for modern man.

(The author is America's best-known woman theologian, a member of the faculty of the Methodist Pacific Divinity School, Berkeley, Calif., who is currently on leave teaching at the International Christian University, Tokyo, Japan.)

By Dr. GEORGIA HARKNESS

TOKYO (UP) — What does Easter mean to you? New clothes, Easter eggs, bunnies, spring flowers? These are part of our tradition, and there is no need to abandon them. But much deeper than these lies a great fact. Easter can mean new life and joy and peace, triumph over pain and even over death.

Easter always follows Good Friday. But let us not forget that he first Good Friday, when Jesus hung with thieves on Calvary and was crucified for sins he did not commit, did not seem very good! His closest followers, with the exception of John the beloved disciple, were conspicious by their absence as far as we can learn from the record. His mother Mary and some of the women were there weeping, as well they might at an event so terrible and so undeserved. Most of the disciples, apparently afraid of being implicated, disappeared, while Judas who had betrayed Him was so horrofied at what he had done that he went out and hanged himself. The whole situation was very dark indeed.

Then came Easter morning! Mary Magdalene, whose life had been made over by His love even for a sinner and His faith in what she could become, was early at the tomb to pay Him a last tribute of devotion. And there He spoke to her, as He had spoke before in words of assurance that made life different. One of the pictures I treasure most is a photograph of Gutzon Borglum's rock-hewn "Mary Magdalene." The light of glad expectancy and renewed hope is in her eyes as she turns from the empty tomb to confront the living Christ. In one word, "rabboni!" are compressed her gratitude, her enduring devotion, her joy. For her, triumph was shining through grief and hope had again been born in her.

Now the great thing about Easter is that it did not happen just once, long ago and far away. Of course, it did happen once—the climax of the supreme event of all history, which is God's revelation of Himself in the life and death of His Son Jesus Christ. Yet because it happened once, it keeps on happening in the lives of persons just like outselves. Because Jesus Christ is not simply a memory, or a person to read about in the history of Palestine, but a living presence, our lives can have the same hope and joy that came to Mary Magdalene.

Best 'Hatted' Women Named

NEW YORK (UP)—The 10 best "hatted" and the 10 best "suited" women in America have been named, just in time for the Easter parade, by a group of millinery designers and the Custom Tailors guild.

Movie actress Audrey Hepburn was the only woman to make both "best" lists. She nudged out Elizabeth Taylor as the best-tailored woman in the movies, the Custom Tailors Guild said after a poll of its members.

The milliners' list of "the 10 best chapeaued women in America" also included Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower; Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, U.S. treasurer; TV star Arlene Francis; Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney and Mrs. Cyrus McCormick, socialites; Lauren Bacall and Joan Crawford, actresses; Canadian soprano Mary Bothwell and Mrs. Titus Haffa, a Chicago hostess.

On the tailors' list were actress Rosalind Russell, opera star Maria Callas, TV singer Denise Lor, swimmer Esther Williams, businesswoman Jacqueline Cochran, dancer Marge Champion, recording artist Jean Martin, and the Duchess of Windsor and Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce, who were named best in the fields of society and diplomacy.

Deputy Revenue Secretary Named

HARRISBURG (UP)—A Allen Sulcowe, Philadelphia, director of the state Employment Security Bureau since 1955, took up his new duties today as first deputy secretary of revenue in charge of administration.

A native Philadelphian and a graduate of Temple University Law School, Sulcowe was director of the state Employment Service from 1942 to 1955. He receives $16,500 a year in his new post.

Ever Use an Asparagus Pincer?

By DOC QUIGG

BARCELONA, Spain (UP) — I have just been introduced to the asparagus pincer, the champagne fizzler, and the porron. They are impelements for eating. I didn't know what to do with any of them until advised by experts in the fine art of stuffing yourself, Spanish style.

I ran across the first two at the very la-de-da Ritz Hotel and the third at a bistro where garlic hangs from the ceiling as decoration and the chef dumps snails and baby octopuses on the stove-top in front of you to cook.

Droop Causes Drip

One course of the lunch at the Ritz was asparagus (esparrogos). It was delivered along with a clamp-like device with diagonal grooves on the business end.

"What in the name of escoffier are these pincers for?" I asked the Barcelona belle on my right.

"Those pincers," replied the lady, "are asparagus-eating pincers. They are called pinzas de esparrogos."

Well, sure enough. The trick is to clamp the asparagus in midstalk, dip the green end in the excellent sauce that comes with the course, and munch away. There is one minor trouble. The asparagus stalk, as served, is about 10 inches long and quite limp. When seized with the pinzas, it droops drastically and has to be eaten by holding it on high and then lowering the end into the mouth.

The "Jet" Age

The swizzle stick that comes with your champagne glass is for use in keeping a collar on your champagne. In Spain they apparently like it that way. I don't even like a collar on my beer. The thing causes such a fizz that it should be called a fizzle stick. It is merely a pencil-long stick with paddles on one end. When lowered into the champagne and twirled, it causes such a rush of bubbles that you have to go easy to keep the glass from foaming over.

This widget, which seems designed to take the sparkle out of the sparkling stuff, I would recommend only for those who feel the urge to have their noses tickled every time they take a sip.

As for the porron, it is the instrument of an old Spanish custom, which enables you to show off while you drink your wine. I am told there are porrons in every restaurant and home around here. It enables you to hold your wine at arms length and squirt a jet into your mouth, if you can hit it, like a farm boy getting a drink of milk right from the faucet. It is mandatory for a newcomer to wear a bib at this.

A porron is a wine pitcher with a long spout which narrows down at the end to a hole about broom-straw size. Tip it, and the wine comes forth in a curving jet. I tipped it. Wine reddened my right eye, then my right ear, then my nose. You've got to have practice.

Says We Can Halt Depressions

WASHINGTON (UP)—One of the nation's leading business economists said today the United States now has the "ability to prevent great depressions" like the one that devastated the country in the 1930's.

Herbert Stein, research director of the Commiteee for Economic Development, said "We know that deep and long depressions can be prevented by preventing deep and long inadequacies of total money expenditure."

"We also know," he told the United Press, "how to make great additions to total money expenditures by a number of means, including, if necessary, large government deficits." He described this stable monetary and credit policy as "probably the greatest advance of the past 30 years."

Cites Mild Recessions

Stein is chief Washington economist for the CED, an organization of some of the nation's leading businessmen. He said he did not mean to indicate the economy will not continue to have its ups and downs and noted "we have had three mild recessions" since World War II.

However, he said, "In no case did the decline, as measured by industrial production, continue for as long as one year."

"In a sense this is more encouraging evidence of the stability of the economy than the complete absence of recessions would have been," he said. "Some exposure to disease is necessary to test the effectiveness of the immunization."

An Immunization

Stein said he believes the country has immunized itself against "great depressions" mainly because of the "automatic, built-in stabilizing tendencies of the economy" rather than government intervention in case of a recession.

He listed these as:

—"The financial system has been greatly strengthened. Banks will not fail in large numbers. There will not be runs on banks or other financial institutions."

—"The process by which a change in the total value of production brings about a change in total private disposal income has been significantly dampened."

—A "growing share of total business investment" is being "determined on the basis of long - run plans . . . the existence of the plan probably serves as a deterrent to change."

She Knew What She Was Seeing

CHARLESTON, S. C. (UP) — Mrs. Annie Lee Small, pretty wife of a traveling salesman, told an antique shopkeeper here, "This looks like a real diamond — how much?"

The proprietor of one of this port city's many antique shops looked over the tarnished ring she had chosen from his display of old jewelry and said with a laugh:

"Sure, it's a diamond. For you, five bucks. You always get a diamond that size for $5, but all sales are final."

Mrs. Small took her purchase to two appraisers who agreed the stone was a 72-point, blue-white diamond worth $750.

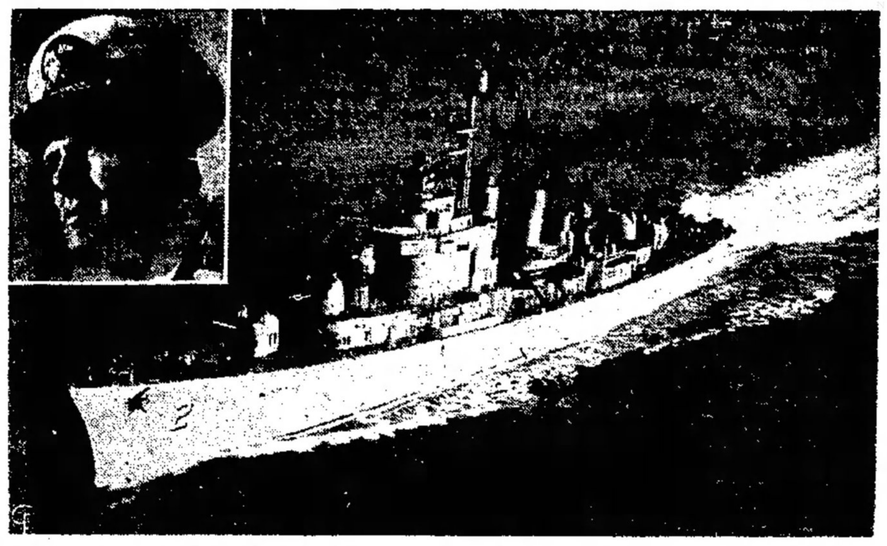
REDS HAD SECRET INFO ON THIS SPECIAL WARSHIP



The U. S. S. Mitscher, first of "Destroyer Leader" class. Inset: Comdr. Sheldon H. Kenny, skipper.

Depth bomb goes off in anti-sub drill.

Reading radarscope, Combat Info Center.

INFORMATION still secret on this new type warship of the U. S. Navy appeared in the Soviet publication Soviet Fleet long before it was declassified in the U. S. The new Destroyer Leader class is designed especially for anti-aircraft and anti-submarine operations in long range carrier task force protection. The Soviet publication carried a photo of the Mitscher and accurate detail on dimensions and arms. The warship cost nearly $60,000,000, and is virtually an electronic floating platform. It is considered such a valuable development it probably will be used only as a flotilla flagship. The Mitscher is 3,675 tons displacement (ordinary destroyers run a bit over 2,000). In practice it scored five actual contact hits on a submarine hull with five consecutive rockets. (International)

Propaganda Agency Is Sharply Cut

WASHINGTON (UP) — The House slated for final passage today a sharply-curtailed appropriation for the United States Information Agency. Administration forces pinned their waning hope of getting some of the money restored in the Senate.

Sen. Styles Bridges, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, told reporters the Senate might agree to "some" addition for USIA. But he said there is "no possibility" it will approve the full amount requested by the administration.

The House, ignoring a last-minute plea from President Eisenhower, approved unchanged Tuesday a 26 per cent cut in funds for the embattled overseas propaganda agency. The slash was recommended by the economy-minded Appropriations Committee.

Other Cuts Approved

Members also approved lesser committee cuts in State Department funds, and added tentatively a $7,039,958 reduction of their own. It would apply to U.S. contributions to international agencies such as the United Nations.

Committee recommendations for the Justice Department, the federal courts and the President's emergency fund for such things as cultural exchanges were approved unchanged by the House.

Final passage of the combined money bill was put off by House leaders until today in hopes of upsetting the extra State Department reduction. A final vote on this was scheduled to precede certain passage of the bill today.

The USIA wound up with $106,100,000—the amount recommended by the Appropriations Committee. That is $37,900,000 less than the President asked and 6,900,000 less than the agency received for the current year's operations.

Plastic Silo Undergoes Test

CHICAGO (UP) — There's something new for farmers — a plastic silo.

A Purdue University research team conducted eight years of laboratory and field study on the use of plastics for protection of high quality silage.

Guided by Prof. H. W. Gregory, the team made quality silage ensiled in polyethylene film at far below the cost the farmer now pays.

Because of their research, today's farmer need add to his present equipment only a specially designed black film to cover grass silage stacks and ensile as much of his forage crop as his land can produce.

During research, the flexible plastic silos were constructed close to where harvesting occurred greatly reducing the time in which silage was exposed to air—an enemy of fermentation.

When a stack was completed, the Purdue report said, a plastic silo tarpaulin was placed over the stack and the ends buried in an 8-10 inch trench to give an air-tight seal.

Woodpeckers Make Mistakes!

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (UP)—Woodrow staggered to freedom after a woodenheaded mistake that shouldn't happen even to a bird.

And for a woodpecker that can't tell a square column from a wormy tree this bird acted mighty coy about being rescued, Dr. Franklin E. Verdon said today.

Verdon said the woodpecker, confined two days and nights in a trap he drilled for himself inside a two-story Colonial-style column, finally yielded after two hours of coaxing Monday night.

"He refreshed himself on the water and feed we pushed through the hole we'd drilled and wobbled out," Verdon said. "Then he flew up in the nearest tree."

It was plainly a harrowing experience for both man and bird. Aside from the $150 cost of rebuilding the hacked-up porch column of his recently remodeled home, he's had to listen to a lot of drilling, Verdon, 44, said.

The woodpecker perched on the molding at the top of the tall column Saturday, drilled right through the one and one-half inch plank, and then fell inside.

"If you think that was noisy," Verdons' wife Myrtle, 40, said, "you should have heard the woodpecker frantically trying to drill to freedom from the inside."

The racket attracted two other woodpeckers who hacked out a big piece of the molding and about half the time in what the Verdons took for a rescue attempt.

"They worked like Trojans," Verdon said.

More than 60 per cent of all zinc produced in the United States is used for protective coating for iron and steel.

Wants Teachers To Spare no Rods

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP) — "Teen-agers have too much freedom and would actually welcome stricter parental discipline," says Miss Agnes Grabau, executive secretary of Youth Service.

Miss Grabau has puzzled over teen-age problems for more than three decades.

"Parents have been bombarded with so much advice about not inhibiting their youngsters that they now feel unsure of what they should do," she said.

"The result is lack of discipline for the youngster.

"Adolescents are rebelling against parental authority, but at the same time they are not yet adults and actually welcome guidance.

Economy League Suggests Repeal In Easy Stages

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pennsylvania Economy League has suggested that the real estate tax on machinery in Allegheny County might be repealed in stages over a five-year period to ease the impact on communities dependent on the levy for most of their income.

In a special report, the League proposed that a "percentage could be eliminated each year" over a five-year period.

"In this manner the municipal taxing bodies would know their exact status and could be in position to plan ahead on a gradual basis to take up the slack in their income," thereport said.

A bill is pending in legislature repealing the law permitting imposition on the tax on machinery. It's sponsor contended elimination of the tax would remove a deterent to industrial expansion in the county.

The Economy League said that under its proposals municipalities could find other sources of revenue, such as the wage tax imposed by non-industrial communities.

The Pennsylvania Farm—

'Air Raids' Planned On the Gypsy Moth

By UNITED PRESS

The biggest single "air raid" on highly destructive gypsy moth caterpillars in Pennsylvania will take place early in May, according to State Agriculture Secretary William L. Henning.

The "raiders" — two airplanes —will spray their moth killing DDT over 100-thousand acres of farm and forest land in parts of Monroe, Pike and Wayne counties.

The state-chartered planes will spray a light mist at a rate of one pound per acre, said Henning, without injury to bees, farm animals or wildlife.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture will spray an additional 130-thousand acres in the same counties, bringing the total to 230-thousand acres. The secretary said this is the season when gypsy moth egg clusters are hatching.

Nine northeastern states will participate in the estimated 5-million-dollars "blitz" — the largest single aerial spraying ever attempted in the United States, said Henning.

Areas currently infested are believed to be the result of the moth's being carried by winds from more heavily infested areas in adjoining states.

The gypsy moth was first discovered in Pennsylvania in 1932.

Fruit Survey

A fruit tree survey of commercial orchards in Pennsylvania is underway by the State Department of Agriculture. The survey stems from a request by the State Horticultural Association, which asked for a count of apple, peach and red cherry trees in orchards having 100 or more trees.

The survey results will be a guide to future plantings.

Cost of the new survey will be met on a matching basis with state and federal department of agriculture funds, according to the agriculture department.

The survey is a sequence to the state survey made in 1953 and is important to the 16-million dollar orchards industry even though a Pennsylvania department survey is scheduled for next year.

Toledo Trucker Sues Turnpike After Accident

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A Toledo, Ohio, truck driver, who was involved in an accident on the Pennsylvania Turnpike in which three persons died, sued the Turnpike Commission today charging it with failure to maintain safe conditions on the highway.

James Linger, 33, who suffered severe burns of the entire body in the wreck, said the commission was negligent in failing to maintain a safe speed limit and a medial strip of sufficient width. He also charged failure to keep the roadway cindered and salted.

The unusual suit, filed in federal court here, said Lingre was driving a tractor-trailer on the turnpike in Mount Pleasant Twp. last Jan. 17, 1956 when a car skidded across the medial strip and rammed his rig.

Pointing out that the commission charges tolls, the complaint sait it owed those paying to use the highway a high degree of care and should have known the roadway was unsafe.

Record 81 Corporations with Assets of Billion

By ROBERT G. SHORTAL

NEW YORK (UP)—The number of American corporations with total assets of one billion dollars or more now stands at a record 81, a United Press survey showed today.

Industry added four new corporate billionaires in 1956, climaxing another booming year of economic growth.

The list of billion-dollar giants has almost doubled since the end of World War II, mirroring the nation's fabulous postwar growth and prosperity.

The 81 companies in the "billion dollar club" had assets aggregating $241,447,251,425 at the end of 1956. That was equivalent to more than $1,400 for each man, woman and child now living in the United States.

At the end of 1955, these 81 firms boasted total assets of $228,315,487,311. The sharp increase recorded in 1956 reflected the record 35 billion dollars spent for expansion and modernization by companies producing everything from hairpins to automobiles.

The Bell Telephone System retained its ranking as the world's biggest business enterprise with total assets of $16,206,571,233. It was the first time assets of any company had ever topped 16 billion dollars.

Metropolitan Life was the next biggest, followed in order by Prudential Insurance, bank of America, Equitable Life Assurance Society, and Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey).

America has a virtual monopoly on corporate billionaires. England has a few such giants, including Royal Dutch-Shell, Imperial Chemicals and British Petroleum. Canada lists Aluminium, Canadian Pacific Railroad, Canadian National Railways and two banks in this exclusive group.

The newcomers to the American list last year were Massachusetts Investors Trust, the nation's oldest and biggest investment company; Chesapeake & Ohio Railway, the seventh railroad to join; Detroit Bank & Trust Co., the 25th bank in the group, and Tennessee Gas Transmission Co., a principal shipper of natural gas.

Of the 81 companies in the list, all but 13 showed increases in total assets during 1956. Eight of the companies suffering declines in assets were banks.

The companies included in the list affect almost every facet of American life. They are the nation's biggest employers, its biggest corporate taxpayers and the most popular with the nation's investors.

The billion dollar club is one of the best barometers of the nation's postwar economic growth. Between 1776 and 1945—a period that included the dazzling 1920's—a total of 43 companies joined the billionaire ranks. From 1946 on the list has grown by 38, almost double.

The latest roll of billionaire firms consists of 25 banks, 22 industrial and manufacturing firms, 16 insurance companies, seven railroads, six public utilities, three credit firms, one investment firm and one mail order house.

Biggest in their respective fields are Bank of America, Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), Metropolitan Life, Pennsylvania Railroad, American Telephone & Telegraph, General Motors Acceptance Corp., Massachusetts Investors Trust and Sears, Roebuck.

In addition to the 81 in the club, a number of companies are within striking distance of the billion dollar assets level, including Anaconda Co., International Paper, and Public Service Electric & Gas Co.

Textile Firm To Shut Down This Summer

WHEELING, W. Va., (UP) — The 100-year-old textile firm of J. L. Stifel & Sons, Inc., has decided to go out of existence.

Flaccus Stifel, president and treasurer, says the plant will shut down for good as soon as work on hand runs out, probably by July 1.

Stifel broke the news to the firm's 160 production employes and its office help Monday afternoon. He said management had made a concerted effort in the past six months to operate without a loss but had failed.

"Dieing, printing and finishing of cotton goods just could not be done economically and competitively under present conditions," he said.

Last fall, stockholders authorized management to take what action it deemed best in the event the firm could not operate in the black.

The plant's production employes are members of Local 514, Textile Workers Union of America, ALF-CIO. When organized in 1942, the local had more than 600 members.

Polio Susceptibility May Be Hereditary, Scientist Believes

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UP) — By collecting and analyzing the pedigrees of 50 victims of paralytic polio, a scientist came up with evidence that susceptibility to the virus - caused disease may be hereditary.

The 50 pedigrees covered 5,677 persons. Among them there had been 103 cases of polio over a five-year period which is an extremely high rate of infection when compared to the national rate.

But to eliminate statistical bias, the 50 cases from which the pedigrees stemmed, have to be subtracted. That leaves 53. Now subtract 15 cases of suspected but not proven polio. That leaves 38.

Statistical Significance

And that is an infection rate of 6.75 per thousand among the 5,677 men and women living within a 100-mile radius of South Bend, Ind. The rate for the general population of the same area was less than 2 per thousand which gives a high order of what is called "statistical significance."

Dr. John J. Reedy, of Stonehill College, North Easton, Mass., who made the study while a graduate student at Notre Dame University, South Bend, suggested in a report to the American Genetic Association that susceptibility was transmitted down through the generations by a single recessive gene.

This would mean that the inclusion of the one gene in any person's inheritance chemistry would not make for susceptibility. But if two persons who carried the gene mated, their children would be susceptible.

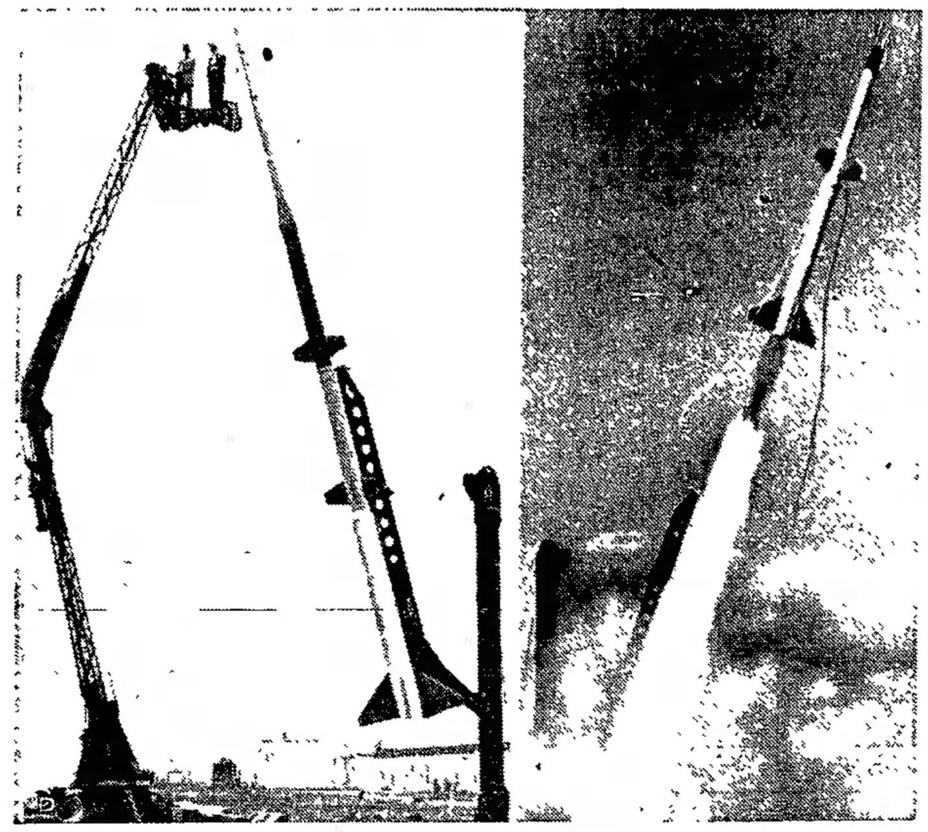
Starting from this premise and working out the statistical expectancies, Reedy demonstrated some extremely high percentages of polio infection among the children of parents who were presumed not to be susceptible because they didn't get polio although exposed.

Not New Idea

The idea that polio susceptibility may be hereditary is by no means new. Indeed, the idea suggests itself because of the weird patterns of infection which appear even when there is little polio around.

As long ago as 1898 there was a scientific report on "polio families" whose members were clearly more susceptible to the disease than even close-living but not related neighbors. Of course, polio is transmitted by a virus but it is a fact that some people are chemically less hospitable to any given virus type than other people.

Is this due in part or as a whole to heredity? Reedy's study was the newest and in some ways the most impressive of a number made over the years.



ROCKET TRAIN AND TWO-HEADED ROCKET TESTED — Soaring after being fired at Wallops Islands, Va., is a two-headed rocket, an experimental missile used to study, among other things, aerodynamic heating problems. Fitted into the nose of a Nike booster rocket are two toy model-sized aircraft, each with a different wing configuration. An Honest John rocket forms the first stage of the missile. The technique allows scientists to study how different wing sweep angles behave under the same flight conditions. At left, a five-stage rocket train is readied for flight during research tests into the possibility of passenger-carrying rocket gliders. The 50-foot long rocket train soared over 200 miles high at speeds of 7,000 miles per hour. The rocket radios heat and friction data back to ground stations up to the moment of its disappearance into the ocean.

More Work Needed On Atomic Research

WASHINGTON (UP)—Rep. Melvin Price (D-Ill.) said Monday night it may take "another decade or more" before the United States has the technical know-how to build economically feasible atomic power plants.

Price is chairman of a joint congressional atomic subcommittee assigned to study research and development.

He issued his statement after the subcommittee inspected the Atomic Energy Commission's Bettis plant near Pittsburgh and conferred with atomic experts there.

Harrisburg TV Channels Ask Okay to Swap

WASHINGTON (UP) —The Patriot—News Co. and the Rossmoyne Corp. asked the Federal Communications Commission today for permission to swap their UHF television channels at Harrisburg, Pa.

Rossmoyne proposes to exchange its channel 27 station, WCMB-TV for the Patriot-News Station WTPA operating on channel 71. The Patriot-News also will pay Rossmoyne $150,000 for the channel.

Rossmoyne told the Commission it was forced to go off the air last week because of severe financial losses suffered since it began operating in 1954. It attributed part of the difficulty to its inability to get a network affiliation.

The Patriot-News station is affiliated with the American Broadcasting System. It told the Commission it has been experiencing difficulties because its assigned channel is in the upper portion of the UH TV spectrum.

Cheaper to Buy Car Than Bridge

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP)—For the past month it has taken two cars to get W. Earl White to his job and back each day—ever since the bridge collapsed on his private road.

White, a printer for the Knoxville Journal, did not know it was his road until the county refused to rebuild a bridge over a creek when it collapsed.

Unable to afford a new bridge, White bought a second car so he can keep one on each side of the creek and ride to work relay style. He wades across the shallow creek to change cars.

U. S. Soldier Tells Of 11-year Blackout

POITIERS, France (UP) — A thrice - wounded Brooklyn soldier who became a French war hero during an 11-year mental blackout may learn today whether he will be executed for deserting the U.S. Army in wartime.

The soldier is Pvt. Vito Sala, 31. He appeared before a U.S. Army general court martial in the second and perhaps last day of his trial on charges he deserted in Germany in 1945.

He faces a maximum penalty of death for leaving his own 329th Infantry Regiment. But his own testimony, and records of the French Foreign Legion, showed that his 11 years of absence were in fact, 11 combat - packed years in Indochina and Algeria.

The 12-man court heard Sala himself relate the story of a bewildered man who wandered through Europe suffering from amnesia produced by shock; of fighting in Indochina; of being wounded and captured in the historic siege of Dien Bien Phu, and of fighting Nationalist rebels in Algeria.

Sala, tortured during those 11 years by memories he said he could but half recall, said he must have suffered a loss of memory from battle shock and that his memory only partially returned during the successive shocks in Foreign Legion fighting.

Since asking the U.S. Army for help he has undergone a long series of psychiatric tests in the Landstuhl Hospital in Germany. Defense counsel Capt. Ralph B. Hammack of Dayton, Ohio, summoned those psychiatrists to testify today.

Sala surrendered to U.S. authorities last October and asked them to trace his past. In questioning during his trial he kept to his story that his past was almost a blank.

Price of Haircut Up in Ambridge

AMBRIDGE, Pa. (UP — The price of a haircut went up 25 cents Monday in Ambridge, Conway and Baden.

The increase, adopted by 14 barber shops, boosted the price for adults from $1.50 to $1.75 and for children from $1.25 to $1.50.

Francis Villella, president of Chapter 1002, Associated Master Barbers, said the rising cost of rent, supplies and utilities made the price increase necessary.

He said prices would remain the same on Saturdays.

Named Manager of Westinghouse Plant

PITTSBURGH (UP — Robert L. Wells, 39, who was fresh from college when he joined Westinghouse Electric Corporation in 1940, has been named manager of the company's atomic power department effective May 1, it was announced today.

Wells, a native of Evanston, Ill., came to Westinghouse through the graduate student training course and in 1941 was assigned in Pittsburgh as a research engineer.

In his new post, the company said, Wells will be responsible for four major atomic power projects being developed by Wesunghouse.

"Remember, girls, the vital importance of figures in a business such as ours."

Business Warned of Inflationary Spiral

PHILADELPHIA (UP) —Ernest G. Swigert, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, said Tuesday night that business should do something about today's renewed inflationary spiral.

Swigert said that unless the upward climb of prices and wages is checked "we will all be sucked into a whirlpool from which there is no return."

He urged businessmen to deal "forthrightly" with the factors which cause today's inflationary climb, and asked whether an "economic Pearl Harbor" is needed to "blast us out of our complacency."

Swigert, keynoting a Mid-Atlantic Industrial Conference dinner, told industrialists there were two basic factors causing the current inflation. They are the "constantly expanding size and cost of the Federal government," and "the unbridled power of international unions."

He criticized the more than $71-billion budget submitted by an administration "elected on a pledge of a cut-to-the-bone economy." He said it should be "shocking to every citizen" that the budget should "be six-billion dollars higher for purely non-defense projects."

Swigert said some of the "great international unions" are enjoying a monopoly power which enable them to force "unsound, uneconomic wage settlements" on business. He said these settlements have spread throughout industry and have resulted in price increases affecting all people including union members.

Leader's Authority Less in Peacetime

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Justice Department ruled today that Gov. George M. Leader's authority to appoint volunteer police officers does not extend to peacetime circumstances.

The governor is given specific authority to name volunteer officers in counties, cities and other municipalities in war time. But the department said the authority cannot extend to a time when the country is not involved in hostilities.

The department said that no local question was involved.

Slight Oversight

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP)—Police quietly cancelled a drive Tuesday to ticket cars without 1957 safety inspection stickers required to be displayed Monday midnight. They discovered 30 police cars had not yet been inspected.

ICC Accused by P&LE President

ROCHESTER, Pa (UP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission is blocking fair competition in the transportation industry by basing its regulations on "conditions that existed 60 years ago," according to John W. Barriger, president of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad.

Barriger told a group of Beaver Valley business, civic and industrial leaders here Monday night that the ICC frequently has ruled out lower rail freight rates because "it considers the railroads might take business away from other modes of transportation."

Also speaking on a panel discussion were H H Vaugh, assistant general manager of the Pennsylvania Railroad and Paul K. Gronnger, general freight agent of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad

No Bargain

WYTHEVILLE, Va. (UP)—Donald Umberger, 38, thought his $9 parking fine was excessive so he appealed to County Court and got it reduced to $1 plus costs. The costs amounted to $14.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear wife, mother and grandmother, Mrs. Virginia Panepinto, who died two years ago, April 17, 1955.
Midnight stars are gleaming,
Upon a lonely grave.
Where sleeping but not dreaming,
Lies one we loved but could not save.
In dreams we see her dear, sweet face
And kiss her cold, cold brow,
And whisper as we loved her then
We love her memory now.
We think of her in silence,
No eye can see us weep.
But still within our aching hearts,
Her memory we will keep.
She bade no one a last farewell,
She said goodbye to none.
The heavenly gates had opened,
And a lovely voice said "Come."
And with farewell unspoken,
She gently entered home.
Our mother sleeps in silence,
We'd not disturb her rest,
Sad and lonely are the hearts
Of those who loved her best.
Sadly missed by Husband, Daughters, Son and Grandchildren

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Alex Cowan, who died nine years ago today, April 17, 1948.
We loved you in life, you are dear to us still.
In grief we must bend to God's holy will:
Parting was pain, the shock hard to bear,
Now angels attend you in heaven with care
But, unknown to the world, you stand by our side
And whisper "Dear loved ones, death cannot divide."
Sadly missed by Father and Sisters

In loving memory of our dear father and grandfather, Antonio Altemare, who died three years ago, April 16, 1954.
He is gone but not forgotten
And as dawns another year
In our lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of him are always near.
Days of sadness will come over us,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within the heart concealed.
Sadly missed by Mr. and Mrs. Leo Altemare and Family

Alteration of Dam Is Forbidden by Board

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Green Spring Hatchery Co., Newville, today planned a court appeal against an order of the state Water and Power Resources Board to remove a 16½ inch addition to its famed dam in Big Spring Run, Cumberland County.

The board late Tuesday upheld its previous decision rejecting the hatchery's application for the dam alteration. At the request of Colin Thomas, president of the firm, the board consented to review its decision and held public hearings on the application in February.

State Forests and Waters Secretary Dr. Maurice K. Goddard, board chairman, said the board found "no factual or legal justification for revising its original decision of December 12, 1956."

The ruling upheld protests against the application by several landowners along the stream and by the Big Spring Restoration Committee, who contended that the higher dam backs up water and silt, seriously damaging native trout spawning conditions in the stream above the dam.

Said Move Necessary

Thomas told the board at the hearing the spillway was raised last November when lack of water resulted in a kill of some 2,000 fish in hatchery pools, which are fed with water diverted from the stream. He brought several fish experts to support his contention that native trout are not injured by the hatchery operations.

However, Goddard said the board found "evidence that injury had been done to the spawning beds above the dam."

"Another important point in the board's mind," Goddard said, "is (Thomas') action in raising the dam is not dictated by a continuing need...There is an alternate method of solving the basic problem."

Thomas, contacted in Erie, said he would file a court appeal to overrule the board decision.

Kim Stanley Hopes to Say 'I-told-you-so'

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP)—Kim Stanley an outspoken young actress who has jousted with drama critics in the past hopes to sip the sweet wine of "I-told-you-so" next Monday.

She'll star in a CBS-TV "Studio One" version of "The Traveling Lady," a Horton Foote play that laid a gentle bomb on Broadway three years ago.

William Ewald

"It ran about six weeks," said Miss Stanley with a slight trace of testiness. "Well received? Well, if it had been well received it would probably have run a little longer. Actually, the reviews were mixed — three favorable and four unfavorable.

"It deserved a better fate. And I've been interested in re-doing the play for some time. It's one of the greatest plays I've ever worked in. Obviously, I think the reception was not right. I look on the whole thing as a kind of unfinished business."

"The Traveling Lady," set for April 22 on the hour drama segment, centers around the reunion of a young girl with her husband after he has been sprung from prison.

Kim, who has performed in Broadway's "Picnic" and "Bus Stop" and such TV jaunts as "Joey" "Death is a Spanish Dancer" and "Flight," is convinced that TV should turn more often to plays that thudded on the boards.

"I can think of several works not well received on and off Broadway that should be revived. One of our troubles, I think, is that we have come to think that if something is labeled a 'flop,' it must be bad.

"It would be terrible if, say, all the operas originally called flops had not been revived. Think of the good music we would be missing.

"No person can depend entirely on another person's opinion of a work. The important thing to each individual should be his own reaction to a work, the important thing is that it moves you."

Miss Stanley, although a critic of critics, has great faith in the audience at large. "People generally will give a show a fairly even shake," she said. "And personally, I think the audience is generally right."

Marilyn Monroe Elects New Set of Directors

NEW YORK (UP) — Marilyn Monroe elected herself a new board of directors Tuesday, ousting the photographer - agent who still holds a 49 6 per cent interest in Marilyn Monroe Productions, Inc.

Both the actress and the photographer, Milton Greene, denied she had kicked him out of the corporation of which they are the sole stockholders.

Miss Monroe, with 50 4 per cent of the stock, elected a whole new set of directors, including a friend and a brother-in-law of her husband, playwright Arthur Miller.

But she said "nobody was kicked out. Their terms expired."

Greene said he voted for Miss Monroe, who continues as president of the corporation, was "happy," and "I'm not going to sell my stock."

The new directors are attorney Robert H. Montgomery Jr., George Levine, a friend of Miller and George Kupchick, who is Miller's brother-in-law.

Your Health—

Even Perfect Vision Has Its Blind Spot

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Even though you may have 20-20 vision, you've got a blind spot. Everyone has.

Don't let it worry you, though. It's so small that it will never bother you. In fact, hardly anyone is aware that it even exists.

Let me show you how you can get an idea of where your own blind spot is.

Mark a small dot on a piece of paper. Then, about an inch or two away, mark a cross.

Close one eye. With the other eye look at the dot. Then move the paper slowly to and from your eye. You'll find that at some point the cross will disappear.

Another surprising thing about the eyes is that good readers blink more frequently than do poor readers. The rate of blinking actually may account for their being good readers. The blink, you see, makes it possible for them to ignore nonessential objects, such as punctuation marks and other gaps in the text.

The average person generally blinks about 25 times per minute. Incidentally, most of you, I dare say, are "right-eyed."

Statistics show that in some 80 percent of the population the right eye does more work than the left. The left eye dominates in 25 percent of the cases. And in the remaining cases, the eyes alternate with first one doing most of the work and then the other taking over.

This doesn't occur at birth. We all start out giving both eyes the same workout. As we grow older, however, we begin to read and do other close-up work.

As a result of this, the images of both eyes generally aren't fused as we suspect they are. Instead we are inclined to lean upon one more than the other.

VAN NUYS, Calif (UP) — The rocket-powered helicopter which enables its pilot to fly like a grasshopper.

The tiny 'copter, powered by two rocket engines weighing less than a pound each, can be folded down, literally landing on his feet which dangled beneath the pinwheel blades twirling over his head.

In a demonstration Monday by the Rotor-Craft Corp., pilot Dick Whitehead put the one-man aircraft, first of its kind, into the air with a hop and then came to fit a hangar "the size of a telephone booth," Rotor-Craft President Gilbert Magill said Magill explained that the purpose of the little craft is "to fly an infantryman and his equipment about the battlefield and over terrain inaccessible to other helicopters."

The 'pinwheel' was developed under a Navy contract and will be sent to the Naval Air Test Center at Patuxent River, Md.

Five Are Killed in Chemical Co. Plant

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UP)— An explosion at a Monsanto Chemical Co. plant near here leveled a three-story building Tuesday killing five workmen, injuring four others and unleashing chlorine fumes which forced 1,500 persons to leave their homes.

The blast, of undetermined origin, "blew apart" the building one of several single-unit structures known as "shells," at the sprawling Monsanto installation at Nitro, W. Va., 15 miles from here. The building was reduced to rubble.

Four of the injured were in "very critical" condition at Thomas Memorial Hospital and the fifth was listed as serious.

State police ordered more than 1,500 persons to leave their homes when the chlorine fumes spread from the wrecked building after the blast. Company firemen quickly battled the escape of the gas and the residents later were allowed to return to their homes.

Plant manager John McClain said he believed the fumes were "non-toxic," but ordered tests made "to make sure."

Those killed in the blast were building foreman Elmer Priddy Sr., 56, Jack Vintrox, 47, Joe Johnson, 33, and Lacy Gilbert, 47, all of Nitro and Mansford Qualls, 34, of Hurricane, W. Va. Gilbert and Qualls died in hospitals hours after the blast.

The injured were Paul Martin, 31, Poca, W. Va., Tom Miller, 41, Bancroft, W. Va. and Tom Smith, 33, Eleanor, W. Va., all "very critical," and Lionel Jones, 41, Poca.

Two WCHS-TV cameramen, Bill Kelly, 22, and Dave Riley, 20, were overcome by gas while taking pictures and were admitted to Charleston General Hospital for treatment.

Butler Water Co. to Extend Present Service

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Butler Water Co. was authorized to extend service to a section of Center Twp., Butler County, adjoining its present operating area.

The Public Utility Commission said the proposal was granted over protests filed by the municipal Water and Sewer Authority of the township, organized after the company applied for the service extension.

The new service area covers 239 building lots including 55 dwellings. Another 180 homes are expected to be built. The additional facilities will cost an estimated $52,600. The company will charge the same rates as now levied present customers.

The PUC said Butler Water showed it can proceed immediately with lines construction in the township while the authority is in a "conjectural" status pending arrangements for a bond issue.
